COMMITTEE REPORTS.

These reports were received:

From Committee on Public Works, recommending taking land for sewer in Bennington st.

From Committee on Public Franchises etc., favorable to granting N. E. Tel. & Tel. Co. pole locations in Webster st., Walnut Pk, Hovey st., Thornton st., and Bacon st.

These reports were accepted:

From Committee on Public Franchises etc., recommending leave to withdraw on petition of Nonantum Worst Mills for license for 4 bowling alleys, Watertown st., recommending leave to withdraw on petition for wagon license of Nicholas Veduccio, and recommending granting Common Victualer license to Joseph Parisi, Auburn st.

At the request of Alderman Webster consideration of the favorable report of the committee on petition of Alex. Fox for a 6th Class Liquor license, Watertown st. was postponed until the majority report of the committee on the petitions for 6th Class Liquor license of J. G. Kilburn, J. F. Payne, J. H. Green and J. T. Waterhouse was taken up.

LIQUOR LICENSES.

This report was immediately considered.

Alderman Weston. I hesitate somewhat in expressing my opinion against a majority of the Committee but I ask the consideration of the Board to my reasons for voting against the granting of these four sixth class liquor licenses. Druggists must go to the State Board of Registration in Pharmacy and procure a certificate of character and then with this certificate they come to this Board and ask for a license. I have nothing to say about Fox, that was a unanimous report, but these four men whose licenses we are now considering did not secure, prior to the first of May their certificates from the State Board of Pharmacy. They have now received these certificates and have applied to us for licenses.

Alderman Weston then went into the conditions of character and residence required of applicants for other classes of licenses, and continuing said: Apply these same tests to the Sixth Class Liquor Licenses. We find that all four of these men prior to the first of May had been selling liquor illegally. Since the first of May we have no evidence against them, but why should we since then; they realize that if they sell one drop of liquor without a license they are liable to prosecution. The responsibility of granting these licenses is not with the State Board of Pharmacy but with us. This Board is the only party that can grant these men licenses and I understand it is the practice of the State Board of Pharmacy if they have withheld a certificate from a party for four, five or six months to then grant them a certificate of fitness. Whether or not the certificates of fitness are of practical value you probably know, for two druggists who received these certificates May 1st from the State Board of Pharmacy have voluntarily surrendered their licenses. Another argument is that these men have been punished sufficiently and that six months is long enough to punish them. The statutes of the Commonwealth provide that where a man has violated the terms of his license and his license is revoked, as that of the druggist in Nonantum last year, he cannot apply for a license until the expiration of one year. These men for good reasons were refused their licenses and they should wait one year before getting them back. Another reason is that there are other guilty druggists in Newton. We all know of several druggists in Newton who are we pretty sure, violating the law, but we have no positive evidence against them, but it is no argument that because there are six or eight other guilty parties that we shall not do anything with the four against whom we have evidence.

We all know that at our first meeting this year His Honor the Mayor spoke quite strongly about the illegal sale of liquor here in Newton. See what he has done, two licenses have been surrendered and the Chief of Police reported that it was a fact that there was less drunkenness and less drinking than there was before in Newton Upper Falls. Anyone in Nonantum will tell you that there has been much less drinking and drunkenness in that district. The Mayor has done a good work in that he has made many of these druggists to live up to the requirements of the law. I question very much if we grant these four licenses tonight if it is not going to undo the good work which the Mayor has done and all the good he has accomplished.

Alderman Webster. I don't see any difference between this Fox license and any other. If we grant one we ought to grant them all. I have known both of these druggists in Ward 5 and was much surprised to learn that they were guilty of the illegal sale of liquor. The Mayor recommended in his inaugural address that we grant no licenses and I believe if that matter had been followed up that no licenses would have been granted. Nothing was said about those who did not receive certificates from the State Board. The Mayor asked us not to grant these licenses or take any action until he could look into the matter further, and as I consider this a matter in which he is greatly concerned I think we ought to get his views before we take action.

Alderman Dennison. I would state that it seems to me that the Fox license should be taken up separately from the other four. This party appeared before the Committee and made a good straight appeal and showed us the bill of sale and he was approved by the Chief of Police; he looks like a good clean able man for the business. He is entirely different from the four who were not granted licenses by the State Board.

Alderman Sweeney. The reason the Alderman objects to Mr. Fox is because he was in the employ of Robbins when Robbins was found to be selling liquor illegally. I know that Mr. Fox was not in the employ of Robbins when he was found to be selling liquor illegally. I think Fox's license should be granted he is a good honest young man and intends to live up to the requirements of the law.

Alderman Webster. I move that the matter lay on the table until our next meeting. I would like to hear about Nonantum especially and hear from the Mayor in reference to the matter.

Alderman Mellen. The responsibility is in this Board. After it is passed by the Board it is up to the Mayor whether it should be granted or not. It is for the legislative branch of the City Government to pass on this first. If any member of the Board desires personally to consult with the Mayor that is all right, but this is a matter for the legislative branch and then after it is acted on here it goes before the Mayor for his approval or disapproval.

Alderman White. I can see no difference in the condition of Newton Upper Falls since the first of May. We have had two convictions in the police court for illegal sales and they have driven from that town one engaged in that traffic. It is something that we have not had for years. These gentlemen who were not granted certificates by the State Board of Pharmacy have been before no court of competent jurisdiction in my mind by which they are required to wait one year before they can reapply. They were convicted I believe on technicalities of their own omission. They were refused their certificates for a temporary period and they have conducted their business in a legal manner and I see no reason why we should not pass on these licenses tonight.

Alderman Webster's motion to lay upon the table until the next meeting was lost by a voice vote.

A license was then granted to Alex. Fox, 17 aldermen voting aye, Alderman Webster voting nay.

Alderman Sweeney. As a member of the License Committee this year and last year I have known the condition of the sixth class liquor licenses as well as any member of the committee. At the time it seemed that the intention of the Committee was not to take away the licenses altogether, but in the nature of a lesson to other sixth class holders in Newton. It has been reported to us by the Chief of Police that the people who held these licenses have conducted their business much better and it seems that the lesson has had a very good result. They have suffered enough on account of this object lesson, and their licenses should now be granted.

Alderman Ensign. It seems to me the Board is very careless in granting licenses for liquor as well as in granting other licenses. It seems to me we ought to change our method and in most cases ask the persons desiring licenses to appear before the Committee.

Alderman Bishop. These four gentlemen did not appear before us last Thursday night, but we had the evidence brought to us by the chief of police who is unprejudiced and conscientious. I do not understand that any of us have represented to this Board that these gentlemen were selling liquor illegally prior to the first of May. It has been stated that the State Board of Pharmacy took away their licenses and refused to grant them licenses. The State Board granted two other licenses which have since been surrendered. Of what value then is the conviction of the State Board; what faith can we give them in refusing to giving these four gentlemen licenses on the first day of May.

Alderman Cabot. I have known these four gentlemen for a great many years, and it is the first time I have ever heard anything against them and in my judgment they are entitled to a license just as much as any that have been granted. I believe if the State Board has granted them their certificates that we can do no less than to restore to them their licenses.

Alderman Webster. The State Board did not refuse a certificate to anyone in this city on which evidence was not given by the Mayor. The Mayor furnished all the evidence to the State Board and they refused certificates to these people and after they had been without licenses for six months they passed them over and gave them a certificate. We should go very carefully in this matter. One druggist has received over a barrel of liquor which he cannot account for. His books are 53 gallons short of what the expressmen delivered to him, that is the way the evidence is collected. The receipts of the expressmen are taken then the receipts of the druggists books are subtracted from the amount the expressmen delivered and in some cases they cannot find a barrel of liquor.

Licenses were then granted to J. G. Kilburn, J. F. Payne, J. H. Green

ent from the four who were not granted licenses by the State Board. Alderman Sweeney. BECAUSE Communication.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 26, 1904.
The Editor of the Newton Graphic, Newton, Mass.

Dear Sir:
Our new Superintendent of Schools in his report published in your issue of Oct. 14th makes one suggestion which I think must have been made without a thorough understanding of the character of the teachers or the demands which a residence in Newton makes upon their finances. For ten or twelve years, (at least six of which the writer was in a position to be thoroughly conversant with the matter) our superintendents have made a most careful selection of teachers, after a thorough examination of the work and record of the applicants, not only in the vicinity of Boston, but wherever they might be in New England. No teacher above the Kindergarten was accepted who had not had experience in teaching, and the result was manifest in the work of the schools, and confirmed by the frequency with which our best teachers were called to higher positions in Normal and Training schools where a high order of ability was required.

The high range of salaries paid in Newton enabled us to secure from other towns and hold most of our teachers. Very few lady teachers enter the profession as a recreation or as a temporary occupation. They prepare for it as a means of livelihood by study and preparation, and of those selected for Newton schools the college graduate has usually had the preference.

Now it is proposed to invite ladies who have spent years in study and preparation, and who have had experience in teaching, to come to Newton at an initial salary of five hundred dollars a year. She must dress neatly in order to retain the respect of scholars and parents, she should avail herself of the educational advantages obtainable at lectures and exhibitions in Boston, and she must keep herself in good physical condition.

It is possible that she may secure board at seven dollars a week, but more likely it will cost her eight dollars. If we conclude that the lower price is good enough for a school teacher we have an allowance for board per year of say $350.

If she is to have a proper standing and influence in the community she should go to church, and her contributions could hardly be less than, $15. To enjoy the Museum and other free exhibitions and lectures in Boston, she would want to go there Saturdays. The cost of the trip and occasional lunch would be say, $25.

We ignore the theatre, lectures, dentistry, doctor bills, but add for accident and any other insurance, $15.

And we have remaining for clothes and other luxuries the sum of $95. Out of the teacher's earnings for the year of $500.

We can very well believe that the class of teachers who would consent to accept such conditions would require the supervision of an extra Assistant Superintendent at fifteen hundred dollars a year. We know that we have touched upon but a few of the items of the many expenses which our Newton teachers voluntarily pay in order to keep themselves up to the times. They buy books or subscribe to book clubs. They belong to special classes for instruction in the special branches which they teach, and all show enthusiasm and pride in the work in which they desire to excel. They are ambitious, wholesome women, sound in mind and body, and exert a healthy moral influence upon the children, who for thirty hours a week are under their constant control.

We can scarcely realize how much parents owe to their patient toil in opening up the children's minds and developing their character. Their influence is the greatest auxiliary to the church, if not more potent than the church itself. The educator of today must not only have knowledge and the ability to impart it, but the ability to study the mental peculiarities of the pupil, which only comes with long experience.

If by good luck we should secure teachers of ability at five hundred dollars a year, they would quickly leave for places where living is cheaper, or salaries higher, and we would be frequently changing to the detriment of the schools. The suggestion of replacing teachers at five hundred dollars a year, if adopted by the school committee, will disturb the teachers now employed, and in writer's opinion, would be the most disastrous experiment ever attempted in the Newton Schools. THE ST. LOUIS EXPOSITION STILL HOLDING INTEREST.

NOVEMBER, — A DELIGHTFUL MONTH IN THE CITY

About one month remains for the continuance of the great Exposition at St. Louis. This most marvelous of expositions has far exceeded in grandeur and magnitude the brightest hopes of its projectors; and the exhibits have been described by visitors as the most magnificent and varied ever presented. The "Pike," with its thousand and one different amusement features, is reported as being a "World's Fair" in itself; while the view of the vast buildings, with their various phases of domestic and foreign architecture, is alone sufficient to satisfy the traveler whose taste for the artistic carries him hither.

Each state with its building housing its own displays and the interesting products of foreign countries are both entertaining and instructive. It has been the idea of the management to present everything in the line of reproductions with as much faith and as close to the original—even to the native surroundings, manners and scenery—as possible, and how well they have succeeded may be judged from the Oriental exhibits on the "Pike" and the wonderful Filipino exhibit.

The hotel rates at St. Louis are very reasonable. The courts and the city government have carefully protected the visitors against exorbitant rates in cab service, etc., so that a violation is seldom heard of, and once reported will be summarily dealt with. The weather conditions during this season of the year at St. Louis are perfect; the beautiful Indian summer usually lasts throughout the entire month of November.

Everything points to a large attendance at this last and greatest of all expositions during the remaining month, and prospective visitors from Boston and New England are respectfully referred to the General Passenger Department of the Boston & Maine Railroad, Boston, for information concerning the Exposition. This road publishes a beautiful illustrated booklet describing the Exposition. This book will be mailed free upon receipt of address.

While the political campaign has been generally apathetic throughout the country, we believe that Newton will cast an unusually large vote next Tuesday. With a registration of 6467 it is fair to expect a vote of over 5500 which is 1000 more than was cast in 1900. Of course the Republican presidential electors will receive a large majority of this vote and the entire ticket will also receive handsome support.

We have considerable apprehension however, that the vote for Governor Bates will be considerably less than that for president, and sound a note of warning to Newton Republicans to be sure and poll their full gubernatorial vote. This is especially important to Newton, as the number of delegates to the conventions of 1905 will be based upon the Bates vote next Tuesday. At the present time Newton nearly controls the senatorial convention and with a full Republican vote polled for governor, that control would be certain. Political expediency, therefore, combined with political wisdom, demands that this city cast a full vote for the re-election of the present excellent governor. His democratic opponent receives the large benefit derived from extensive advertising of his business in the past, and renders him a most dangerous factor in the coming election.

Every Republican should make it a point of duty to not only cast his own ballot but to make especial effort to induce all his friends to do likewise.

With a full vote, we do not hesitate to say that Newton will continue to honor itself by giving the Republican ticket, national and state, a large and enthusiastic majority.

Next week the nomination papers are filed for the Municipal Primaries, which are held Nov. 22. There is but little interest in the primaries or election, the fact that there is no mayoralty election this fall, being largely responsible for this condition.

Seven ward aldermen, seven aldermen at large, and five members of the school committee are to be elected. In the Republican ranks, where the probable winners are to be found, the lines are slowly being formed.

In Ward one, Mr. Fred W. Stone will undoubtedly receive the nomination at large, and Mr. Frank D. Frisbie, that for ward alderman. Mr. Fred H. Tucker will also be unopposed for re-election to the School board.

In Ward Two, Alderman at large Carter and Ward Alderman Cabot will probably reverse positions. Mr. Morton is also understood to be an unopposed candidate for the school board. Ward Three returns Aldermen Ellis and Hunt to the board and Captain Howard to the School Committee. In Ward Four, Alderman Brown will again return with the at large nomination and Mr. Frank H. Underwood is suggested in place of Alderman Johnson who retires. Ward Five will probably return Alderman Webster for the one year term, and Mr. Edward P. Bosson for the office now held by Alderman Mellen. Ward 6 will exactly duplicate the arrangement of Ward 2, Alderman at large Bowen and Ward Alderman Bishop, exchanging places, with Mr. A. A. Tilney taking the place on the School board vacated by Mr. C. M. Goddard. Ward 7 will also return its present excellent representatives to the board and School committee, Aldermen Day and Weston and Hon. H. E. Bothfeld having been prevailed upon to accept re-nominations.

ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Newton District Nursing Association will be held at the New Church, Highland ave., Newtonville, next Monday at 3 p. m. There will be reports from and election of officers followed by an address by Dr. Alfred Worcester of Waltham on District Nursing. Tea will be served.

REMOVAL.

Mr. Walter C. C. Mandell wishes to announce that he has removed to 1117-1121 Old South Building, Boston, where he is engaged in the general practice of the law.

The Indian fire dance for the republican nomination for the lieutenant-governorship to follow Colonel Guild next year has already commenced. Ever since the memorable campaign eight years ago, when W. M. Crane came to the altar, this stepping stone lookout has been perhaps the brightest star in the political sky. for the possession of this nomination has come to settle the first and second place on the ticket for about six years.

This is taking time not only by the forelock, but by the tip of the snout, and there are those who believe that this process has gone about far enough. The time has come when a nomination for the lieutenant-governorship should not close the door for everybody else to the executive chamber for half a dozen years at least. This conviction is entertained by a good many who have no aspirations for either office, but believe, for the good of the service, men should again enter the temples of fame on the ground floor instead of climbing in through the skylight.

The commonwealth cannot always have Wolcotts, Cranes, Bates and Guilds to whom she may hand a governor's commission when she invites a lieutenant to take the oath of office. Most of those who hold this view believe that next year would be an excellent time to commence the practice of making a ticket for twelve months only. Not that any one is barred out, not even a lieutenant-governor, but that all may enter the state house on the first floor, rather than through the great doors of the Bulfinch front entrance.

If this should be a correct version of the situation the man who makes an avowal that he is a candidate only for the office of lieutenant-governor will, other things being equal, stand the best chance with the convention of 1905.

There are already four candidates in the field; Mr. Hall of Taunton, Mr. Eben Draper of Hopedale, Colonel Goetting of Springfield and a dark horse. Of this question more will be said in due season.—E. J. Bliss in the Pittsfield Sun.

WESTGATE-FORKNALL.

One of the prettiest of the autumn weddings took place last Tuesday evening at the home of the brides parents when Blanche Miriam, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Forknall, became the bride of Mr. Solon Melville Westgate of Lowell. The bride was attended by her sister Olive Evans, and the best man was Mr. Harry Sweet of Nashua, N. H. The ushers were Mr. Everett Forknall, brother of the bride, and Mr. Bernard Sweet of Lowell. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Patrick of Newtonville and was witnessed by a company of guests which filled the house. The bride looked charming attired in a gown of white silk muslin trimmed with an abundance of lace. She wore the usual conventional veil and carried a large bouquet of brides roses. Her sister carried a bouquet of bridesmaids roses and looked charming in turquoise silk crepe. The house was handsomely decorated with laurel and the ceremony was performed under a large arch handsomely decorated with roses. The happy couple were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Forknall and Mr. and Mrs. George Westgate. A reception immediately followed the ceremony which was served by Mr. Frank Hyslop of Newtonville. Mr. and Mrs. Westgate were the recipients of many beautiful gifts and after their wedding tour will be at home after Dec. 1 at their home on California street.

THE KARMA KOTERIE.

Miss Justina MacAdams entertained the Karma Koterie socially at her home on Lowell avenue on the evening of October 31. The entertainment took the form of a Hallowe'en party and was a very unique and delightful affair. The house was decorated with autumn fruits and foliage and each guest carried home as a souvenir a dainty Jack o' lantern pumpkin. Several distinguished and eligible foreign gentlemen were present, the roles being most successfully assumed by members of the K. K. A thrillingly realistic but most companionable ghost added a mystic flavor to the delights of the evening. Supper was served at eleven o'clock, the dining room calling forth great appreciation for its original decorations. The hostess and her sister, Miss Minnie MacAdams were congratulated by each member as she, and he, departed a little after "the witching hour of night."

Political Notes.

GARBLED QUOTATIONS.

How Parker Missed McKinley's Last Speech.

From Parker's letter of acceptance: "He pointed out in his last address to the people that we must make sensible trade arrangements if we shall extend the outlets for our increasing surplus."

What McKinley said: "By sensible trade arrangements which shall not interrupt our home production we shall extend the outlets for our increasing surplus."

Judge Parker quotes McKinley further as follows: "A system which provides a mutual exchange of commodities is manifestly essential to the continued healthful growth of our export trade."

But he stops there without including the following last sentence of the paragraph: "We should take from our customers such of their products as we can use without harm to our industries and labor."

Who says the "most noble judge" could purposely misrepresent?

"POLITICAL OLIGARCHY."

Some Facts About Voters' Rights in Virginia.

Something like a hundred years ago Thomas Jefferson protested against the new constitution of Virginia because it gave more power to 10,000 voters in the plantation region of the east than to 30,000 in the non-slaveholding western part of the state.

Hence, he claimed, the state would be really ruled by an oligarchy. Let us see whether this is true now. In the Third district, one of the old slaveholding districts, are included the cities of Richmond and Manchester, and one in twenty-eight of the population votes.

In the Fourth district, another of those with a large ex-slave population, a total vote of 6,341 was cast in a population of 160,521—one in twenty six—the winning candidate receiving 5,717 votes, or about five-sixths of the whole.

In the Ninth district, including some of the western counties, about whose rights Jefferson was so solicitous, a total vote of 27,170 was cast in a population of 227,381—about one vote in seven. The Republican candidate received 13,694 votes, and his opponent 13,476, more than twice as many votes as were required to elect a Democrat in the Fourth district, while the total vote is four times as great as that in the Fourth district and the population only about 60,000 greater. Sixty thousand more people and four times as many votes required to elect a representative! And Jefferson called it political oligarchy!

Former Senator James K. Jones of Arkansas has been added to the staff at Democratic national headquarters. He will run the prediction department, a post for which his experience in 1893 and 1900 has amply equipped him.

Live and Let Live.

The man who patronizes his home merchant instead of the catalogue houses of the large cities, is not only doing justice to himself but to the community in which he dwells, and from whom he gains his worldly possessions.

What portion of the local taxes do the Montgomery Ward and Sears Roebucks pay? How much do they contribute to the support of the local churches, hospitals, schools or charities?

A man or woman who has the means, and prefers sending out of town for what may be purchased right at home at the same price, quality considered, and less the freight charges, must be mean at heart, and their very avarice usually works to their own loss, although they may think they are the gainer. The catalogue houses are not in business for their health, no more than the home merchant.—St. Paul Trade Journal.

If we were a country merchant we would ask the paper in our town to publish something like the above.

RECIPROCITY.

Discussed at the Newton Club.

Mr. H. M. Whitney and Congressman McCall Speak.

The second in the present series of notable discussions at the Newton Club was held at its dinner last Saturday night, when Mr. Henry M. Whitney, President of the Boston Chamber of Commerce and Congressman S. W. McCall spoke on "Reciprocity."

At the head table, with President Weeks and the guests of honor, were Hon. Henry E. Cobb, Seward W. Jones, Chas. E. Hatfield, A. C. Walworth, B. E. Taylor and fully 100 members of the club were seated at the other tables.

President Weeks was in charge of the affair, and an orchestra furnished music previous to the speaking.

Congressman McCall spoke less than 15 minutes, a previous engagement necessitating his leaving at an early hour. In his opening remarks he paid a graceful tribute to Henry M. Whitney for his efforts to interest the people of Massachusetts in the question under discussion.

"We are getting crowded into a corner," he continued, with reference to the commercial interests of New England. "We see the great currents of trade gradually moving toward the south where once New England was the metropolis of commerce. We lack the resources that have made other nations great. We have no coal fields under our hills and our soil is not fertile, yet we have people of lively genius."

"To win back our former prestige we must have proper trade relations with the great territory to the north of us with its 3000 miles and more of common frontier. I believe that the most liberal trade relations with Canada would not injure the industries of either country. The treaty of 1854 was vastly beneficial to the United States, although for the first three years the balance of trade was against us, which fact has been used by the opponents of reciprocity as an argument against it."

"I do not believe in seeing people brought under our flag at the point of the bayonet, for they will not be contented members of our body politic. Rather encourage their friendship and alliance by proper trade relations with them."

Mr. Whitney spoke substantially as follows:

Whatever may be said in criticism of the attitude of the business men of Massachusetts touching that question of public policy denominated Reciprocity, there is no doubt that with few exceptions they are substantially a unit in considering it the most important question now before our people. They understand by reciprocity a trade agreement of the give and take kind which is calculated in its ultimate effect to be of mutual advantage to all the parties concerned. It may well be that in making such treaties, some interests may be, or think they may be, unfavorably affected, but if such should be the case it will go to show that such industries are supported at the expense of the many and should give way to the greatest good of the greatest number.

What the business men of Massachusetts feel they must have if our industries are to remain prosperous, is that our trade be extended to regions naturally and geographically allied to us. We are located at the extreme eastern end of the United States. If our foreign commerce is to be measured by the trade from western sections of the country than can reach tide-water elsewhere at a saving of from two to seven hundred miles in distance, the future commerce of this port will be very small indeed. So likewise with our manufactures. Heretofore the skill of our workmen, and the abundant capital and energy of our merchants, have sufficed to retain a large amount of manufacturing within our borders, but the west is developing men of equal energy and capital, and educating and drawing together the same class of skilled workmen, and being nearer the center of population, are becoming every year more formidable competitors for our manufactured products.

The West has also, in many lines of manufacture, cheaper raw materials, and everywhere cheaper food supplies. These are statements of actual facts which no one will dispute. Neither, I think, will any fair-minded man dispute that it is our trade relations with Canada which are free as those between the states on this side of the line, we would be in possession, permanent possession of a large and constantly increasing business.

The natural outlet to the sea, at least for six months in the year, for the Dominion of Canada is largely though the port of Boston; and because it is the shortest and most natural route, trade if it were allowed to flow on natural lines, would never be diverted from us, and the commercial prominence of Boston would be assured.

Now these are simple facts, known and recognized by all men. The question now is, how shall we obtain that to which by nature we are entitled? Our merchants have recognized the importance of securing the open door to this trade for more than fifty years. The men who call themselves statesmen, and who are especially charged with the duty of watching and safeguarding the interests of the state, should have been alive to it, and when in years gone by the opportunity has been repeatedly offered to secure this most valuable opportunity of trade, the representatives of Massachusetts should have been found foremost in its advocacy; instead of that, to the great detriment of the interests of Massachusetts many of our representatives have stood well-nigh foremost in opposition. There have been some conspicuous exceptions, and in my judgment it is greatly to be deplored that some one of these notable exceptions can not be sent to represent the State of Massachusetts in the Upper House. Canada has repeatedly tendered us trade treaties of incalculable advantage, and despite the prayer and protests of the merchants, our political representatives have been found working and voting against them.

"The Dingley tariff Bill advanced the tariff rates of the McKinley Bill very largely. It was understood at the time that reciprocal treaties would be made which would operate to reduce these duties to some extent, but this hope and expectation were never fulfilled. President McKinley was an honest believer in the importance of real reciprocal treaties. Mr. Kasson has stated that Mr. McKinley was familiar with every detail in the so-called Kasson treaties, and personally approved every item in them on which any reduction was made on the part of the United States. But whether Mr. McKinley did or did not approve the details, there were but seven articles having a tariff of from 60 to 58 percent on which the reduction was 20 percent, or from 10 to 15 cents of an enormous tariff which had been increased with the possibility of this reduction especially in view, 3 of 15 percent reduction, 35 of 10 percent reduction, 8 or 10 of 5 percent reduction. The whole reduction was 2 1/2 percent to 10 percent. A reduction so small that in the language of Mr. Kasson 'our producers would not know that the proposed ratification of rates had been made except by their public announcement.' The average reduction was only 6 and 8-10 of one percent. While on the other hand, reductions in the French tariff amounted to from 26 to 48 percent, and covering upwards of 500 different articles of American produce or manufacture."

In a letter addressed to the Home Market Club under date of January 31, 1901, Mr. Kasson states "that out of a value of $117,000,000 manufactured articles imported into France, the United States entered in that market less than $4,000,000" and it was for the purpose of giving to our manufacturers and producers equal opportunities in the French market, with Germany and England, that this Kasson treaty was made. According to Senator Lodge the jewelry makers of Attleboro and certain other industries, having a protection of from 45 to 75 percent, even after the reduction made in the rate under the Kasson treaty, could not exist under such a condition. Jewelry was 50 percent under the McKinley tariff, 60 percent under the Dingley tariff and 57 percent under the proposed Kasson treaty. If that is really his attitude and that is the attitude that the Republican party is to take on the question of reciprocity, that even so slight a reduction as this justifies opposition to a treaty, even if it opens opportunities of trade of vast importance, then the business men of Massachusetts may as well take notice that they may expect no help from that party or its representative in the line of real reciprocity."

So likewise with the Hay-Bond Treaty. Secretary Hay had succeeded in getting incorporated into this treaty a clause providing "that no heavier duty shall be imposed on articles coming from the United States than is imposed on such articles coming from elsewhere." This is an agreement not to give a preferential to England or to any other country over the United States, and I regard it, as I have no doubt it was regarded by the President and Secretary Hay, as of very great consequence bearing upon our future relations with all the English colonies.

Newfoundland has an import and export trade aggregating $20,000,000. They have very few manufacturing industries and are therefore the best possible customers for our own products, and we are denied the privilege of trading with them, and of establishing a principle of trade which may be of the utmost importance in our future relations with Canada, simply because we cannot tolerate the free introduction of some fish. It is the penny wise and pound foolish policy carried to extreme; and if the business interest of Massachusetts in the important years immediately at hand are to be sacrificed to such petty considerations, then "God save the Commonwealth of Massachusetts."

At the conclusion of Mr. Whitney's speech, President Weeks unexpectedly called upon Mr. Chas. H. Jones of Weston, President of the Commonwealth Shoe and Leather Co.

Mr. Jones said it was a very poor business man who did not have something to say on the subject of Reciprocity. He had been amazed, almost paralyzed at the stupidity of those who have controlled the political destinies of Massachusetts during the past 20 years, on their lack of foresight. Mere trading he asserted, does not produce wealth, and production is absolutely necessary to prosperity. Massachusetts cannot produce cereals, and it must maintain its superiority in manufacturing, which is our main reliance.

If you consider the changes that have been made during the past 20 years, you must come to the conclusion that if the present line continues, 20 years hence, Massachusetts will be only a summer home for western millionaires. Today, Massachusetts controls only its own trade and in 20 years, that will be only a memory.

The north and east are naturally connected with us, and with more and well directed efforts to establish trade relations in these directions, it would come to us. We have a perfect right to demand an intelligent effort to help us in this direction, and to enforce the promise in the Republican platform of the state.

The tariff is a business proposition, nominally for the laboring man, actually for the manufacturer, but we should realize that the times have changed in the past 20 years, and that something has got to be done for the business men of Massachusetts. We cannot compete with the south and west. Our skill is not equal to their opportunity and we must have an outlet in some direction. The trade barrier between us and Canada must come down.

A memorial service for the late Theodore B. Casey of Kenrick Park will be held at Grace Church tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Mr. Casey with his wife and Mr. and Mrs. James C. Elms and family sailed for a pleasure trip abroad on the steamer Cedric on Sept. 16th. While on the steamer Mr. Casey had a severe attack of heart trouble, and it was renewed when the party arrived in London. On their physicians' advice Mr. Casey was taken to Hastings, England, where death took place on Oct. 12th. The remains were cremated at Woking, London, and brought home last Friday by Mrs. Casey and Mr. Elms.

Mr. Casey was in his 76th year and had been a resident of this city for about ten years, although his business interests were at Toledo, Ohio, and Minneapolis, Minn.

JOHN ELIOT.

Address by Mr. A. W. Fuller.

The following address was recently delivered at the Eliot Memorial on Magnolia Avenue, by Mr. A. W. Fuller of Newton to the delegates of the Massachusetts Sunday School Association.

This Memorial commemorates the evangelistic work of the Rev. John Eliot among the Indians who lived in this locality. As the inscription tells you,

"Here was founded the first community of Christian Indians within the English Colonies."

Raised under Puritan influences, a graduate of Jesus College, Cambridge, England, a Hebrew scholar and withal a deeply religious man, John Eliot by nature and training was part of that great Puritan movement of 1630. He came to this country in 1631 and shortly after he was settled as teacher over a church in Roxbury. He soon commenced to study the Indian language with the help of an Indian servant. It was in this vicinity, on Oct. 28, 1646, to a congregation of Indian men, women and children gathered in the wigwam of Waban, one of their chief men, that Eliot preached to them a sermon in their native tongue, from Ezekiel 37:9. He conveyed his meaning clearly to them and they understood. There was a strength and earnestness about the man that compelled their attention and they believed. Four times he preached here during the rest of the year. It became a Christian community, in truth "Eliot's praying Indians."

These native Americans were living in the rudest manner; corn and fish was their principal diet, with sometimes game, berries and nuts. They scratched the ground with a hoe and planted their corn. The hoe consisted of a clam shell or bone of an animal, fastened to a stick. All their implements were of the most primitive kind. They gained their living with the least possible effort. Improvidence and idleness were their characteristics. To reclaim them from such a condition, that they might have some of the comforts and benefits of civilization, was part of Eliot's great work. They were led from indolence to industry. Tools were supplied, the men were taught to dig and to plant, and the women to spin. They built better wigwams, cultivated gardens and planted orchards. Years after they had all passed away traces of this little village still remained to be seen in some ditches, stone walls and fruit trees. From savagery to an intelligent Christianity was a long step. Eliot's design was to have a "well ordered town." He would have his native followers, as he said, "Wholly governed by the scriptures in all things, both in Church and State; they shall have no other lawgiver." They were to be self supporting by handicrafts and agriculture, and his medium was the Church, the Home and the School.

This was a short lived colony here, however, as these Indians were removed to Natick in 1651 in order to develop a civil government by themselves apart from the English settlers. The story of their Natick life is a part of the history of that town. Eliot had studied the Indian language fourteen years and was forty-two years old when he came here first to preach. His success at Nantuxum and Natick attracted the attention of the government who assisted him greatly. The General Court appointed David Gookin, the Kentish soldier, superintendent over the "praying Indians" in the Colony of Massachusetts. He remained their protector and friend while he lived.

During the forty-four years of Eliot's missionary work he travelled continually among the Indian communities widely scattered over the State, seeking any shelter he could find, sleeping in wet clothes, facing opposition and danger that would deter most men. He never faltered but met all discouragements with a sublime courage that has immortalized his name.

For fifty-seven years he was a beloved teacher to his parish at Roxbury, meanwhile finding time to translate the Bible correctly into the Indian tongue, a work which stands as the "Monolith of a departed race." He founded the Roxbury Latin School that so well supplied the colleges with pupils in the early colony days. He assisted to prepare the Bay Psalm Book, the first book that was printed and published in America. These are some of his achievements. He stands easily in the foremost rank among the great reformers of which the seventeenth century furnished so many. His name lends a distinction to our City, for at this place more than two centuries and a half ago began the labors of this man whose memory we delight to honor. "The Morning Star of Missionary Enterprise."

Rare Treasures from Odd Places.

The Shepherd exhibit of curios, laces and gems, dear to the feminine half of the world, is now in full progress at Mr. Shepherd's store, 372 Boylston Street.

There are also things for nearly every taste. Old English silver salt cellars and candlesticks and Japanese carvings and china. Two dainty Japanese flower-holders for the one flower which fashion decrees for Japan decorations were attractive in Satsuma detail. Russian icons knocked up against old-fashioned work-boxes. Iridescent glass from the island of Cyprus and carvings from Pompeii dared to be battered and dilapidated, and yet pride themselves on the fact. An exquisite piece of old embroidery done by the hands of patient nuns in a Florentine convent of two centuries ago, showed its arabesques of floral design by the side of the sampler of "Mary Lees, September, 1815."

Some long-hoarded family relics tell their stories of childhood and old age. Russia and Saxony, Bohemia and Italy, Sweden and France—the whole of Europe, in fact—seem to have sent the quaint old brooches, the bracelets and girdles, the fans and the trinkets of ladies dead and ladies living to tempt the women of Boston.

Royalty, also, has its innings. From China comes a mandarin's robe of old blue, not to be copied by any ordinary dye. On the panels of this a design is wrought by hand, woven in as old rugs are woven, with a beauty of tint and wonder of symbolism which would be gorgeous if it were not so perfect in harmony. This and the piece of nun's embroidery are the gems of the handwork collection, so far as the art of the needle and the loom goes.

A rare old shawl which Mr. Shepherd got from the old house-mother who once presided over Marie Theresa's wardrobe, shows a beautiful shade of red.

Altogether it is an exhibit for the curious or the purposeful to linger over. There are some queer old German pipes, also. Turkish saddle adornments look spectacular.

Coming Attractions

Tremont Theatre—Henrietta Crossman, who opened last Monday in the Tremont, has arisen, through the medium of the new Belasco play, "Sweet Kitty Bellairs," to a greater height than she has yet achieved, until now it cannot be doubted that she is the queen of all American comedienne. In "Sweet Kitty Bellairs," Mr. Belasco has penned a piece that almost defies classification. It is old comedy of the richest and rarest kind, full of sparkle, wit and cutting epigram. It is, at other times, a drama of the most vigorous, telling kind. The past week in the Tremont has been a continuation of the New York triumph for both David Belasco's great play and the charming artist, Miss Crossman. The sale for the week has been so heavy that a special matinee was given on Wednesday. Particular stress is laid upon the time of the rising of the curtain, 7:45, this being necessary because of the magnitude of the production. Matinees begin at 2 o'clock.

Keith's Theatre—It will be quite evident to those amusement seekers who have followed vaudeville closely during the past three years that Manager Keith seems to have kept up the average excellence of his shows from week to week, as indicated by the list of entertainers scheduled to appear during the week of Nov. 7. It is a first class assortment of interesting and mirth provoking specialties which the booking Manager has got together. The list includes Ed F. Reynard, the noted comedy ventriloquist, who will introduce a number of wonderful mechanical figures; Adanini and Taylor, the popular "street singers;" Charles Bradshaw and company, in the screamingly funny farce, "Fix in a Fix;" Lotta Gladstone, the accomplished portrayal of country girl characters the Prosper troupe, six of the cleverest acrobats and tumblers in America; Charlie Case, the popular blackface comedian who talks about his father, and Earle and Earle, talented banjo players. A special novelty, the nature of which is not to be disclosed possibly before Monday, it is claimed will create more talk among theatregoers than anything exhibited at Keith's for several seasons.

The first of the series of monthly handicap meets to be held by the Young Men's Christian Association will be run off Saturday evening Nov. 5 at 8 o'clock. About 25 different men have entered the seven events and some lively competition can be expected. With Barber of Cambridge and Very of Newton High in the running high jump some good work will be done.

Rutledge of Brighton who ran with the Boston All Star Team at St. Louis is the favorite in the quarter mile but Bailey of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology is expected to give him a hard race. The following events will be run off: 20 yd dash, 440, 880 yd, and one mile run. Running high jump, 3 broad jumps and 12 lb shot put.

The boy's banquet was a big affair, 70 sat down at the tables. Messrs H. W. Gibson, Chas. D. Kemper and L. C. Stanton were guests. Members of the department under Mr. Ellison's direction rendered some fine music.

The Success Club under Mr. Robert Davis' leadership held its first meeting Monday evening. 13 new members were added to the organization which is planning to do splendid work this season. The initiation of the new members made lots of fun for all but the new members. Kissing the mystic symbol was a very solemn and impressive rite.

The State Convention meets at Worcester November 11 to 13. Delegates from Newton will attend.

Mr. Chas. A. Haskell will speak at the first men's meeting of the season next Sunday afternoon at 3:30. All men are invited to come. Good singing and a social time will be featured.

THE PLAYHOUSE.

Majestic Theatre—The Majestic Theatre has been filled to its capacity by admiring throngs which found delight in the appearance of Mr. Wright Lorimer and his company at every performance this week in the Biblical drama, "The Shepherd King." Their evident satisfaction found expression in the frequent applause that punctuated the presentation of the play, especially at the close of each act, and which made it necessary to raise the curtain on some of the finer scenes 10 times or more. Now that the announcement is made that this week and next are positively the last of the engagement in Boston, there is a livelier demand than ever in advance for seats, and the most remarkable succession of standing room only audiences known in Boston for a long time is in prospect. There are matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.

The fourth annual shoot between the Claffin Guard Veterans Association and Company C, Fifth regiment, M. V. M., for the "Loving Cup" now held by the Veterans, was held at the Bay State Rifle Range, Wakefield, last Saturday. The teams consisted of nine men each, firing ten shots at 200 yards with the "Krag" rifle. The weather was raw and windy and the scores were affected by the conditions to some extent. The Veteran team again proved its superiority by easily winning the match by forty-eight points.

The annual meeting and banquet of the Claffin Guard Veterans Association will be held at the United States Hotel on Nov. 17 at 7:30 p. m.

Mr. Paxton's Exhibition

The season of art exhibitions was opened on Monday at the St. Botolph club by an exhibition of paintings by William M. Paxton. He shows a collection of portraits, about a score in number, which make the same impression of brilliancy, verisimilitude and naturalism that has been noted in his previous exhibitions. Mr. Paxton gets a very good likeness, a merit which is fundamental. One could tell, even without knowing the people whose portraits are shown, that the likenesses were extremely striking; and when one is acquainted with the sitter this fact is still more strongly demonstrated. Added to this faculty of close observation, Mr. Paxton's manner of working is marked by qualities which are likely to secure instant attention. Few contemporary painters obtain a greater degree of brilliancy and realism. There are many striking examples of these characteristics in the present exhibition. A note of great audacity is struck, and for certain positive, technical achievements in the way of gorgeously decorative color and descriptive lucidity it may be said that the display is extraordinary. The exhibition continues until November 12.

Our bargains are made by marking down our own stock to a low price, not by purchasing inferior goods to make an attractive price.

It is a mistake to infer that we carry only high-priced fabrics. We have medium grades as well, and our prices are low because our expenses are proportioned over a volume of business exceeded by few in our specialty in the United States, and equaled by none in New England.

ELECTION COMMENTS.

Interviews With Prominent Newton Citizens.

On Election Results and Defeat of Governor Bates.

MAYOR WEED.

I am both surprised and disappointed in the defeat of Governor Bates as I believe he has made a splendid record as governor and should have been supported at the polls. It seems to me that the result was caused by a variety of reasons, among which the Boston police commission appointment and the governor's financial measures before the last legislature were prominent. Mr. Douglas also had as a nucleus of his tremendous vote, a united Democracy, combined with the labor element, which was opposed to the overtime veto, and dissatisfied Republicans and Socialists with other grievances. The election means that no governor, who looks to his own political future can veto any measure, however vicious, bearing the label of labor.

I have great satisfaction with the general result throughout the country, and particularly with the fine showing made by Congressman Weeks.

CONGRESSMAN POWERS.

I was profoundly surprised and disappointed by the defeat of Governor Bates. He has been in the public service of the State for the past eight years and has filled every position with credit and honor. His administration as Governor has been most excellent; he has shown capacity and courage and a thorough understanding of the interests of the Commonwealth. He is not a politician in the sense in which that term is generally used, nor do I believe that his official action has at any time been influenced by the effect it was likely to have upon his political fortune.

There have been periodical tidal waves in favor of the Democratic party in this state for some decades. Governor Gaston in 1874, Governor Butler in 1885, Governor Russell in the '90s and now in 1904, proves that it was again due, and has arrived.

The canvass by Mr. Douglas was very aggressive and efficient and apparently irresistible. It was a combination of many causes which led to the Governor's defeat, and the result to my mind is most unjust and uncalled for. The result clearly indicates that the voters of Massachusetts are not largely influenced by political organizations. There is no reason, however, to assume that Mr. Douglas will not give to the Commonwealth a good administration, but I cannot but feel that the refusal to re-elect Governor Bates is not only unmerited, but will prove to be of disadvantage to the best interests of Massachusetts.

HON. J. W. WEEKS.

The result of the election throughout the country must be extremely gratifying to every Republican. Such an overwhelming majority means three things:—first, that a substantial part of the radical element in the Democratic party voted for the President, preferring this rather than to see a conservative Democrat elected. They have done this, not because they care for the President or the Republican party, but because they wish to control the Democratic organization, which they will undoubtedly do in the future. Secondly, that the country at large is prosperous and contented and that the people are desirous to have present conditions and policies continue. Thirdly, and more important perhaps than either of the other reasons, the tremendous personal popularity of the President. It seems to me safe to say that no presidential candidate has had so many characteristics which appeal to the masses as has Theodore Roosevelt. The defeat of Governor Bates comes with almost a shock to those who (continued on Fourth page)

REPUBLICANS FAIL

To Poll Party Vote For Governor Bates.

Loyal to Roosevelt and a Flattering Vote for Capt. Weeks.

The national and state election in Newton on Tuesday was without special incident, a total vote of 5637 being cast in a registration of 6471, or 87 percent. Roosevelt and Fairbanks receive the fine vote of 3613, a plurality of 1955 over Parker and Davis, and carry every precinct in the city save Precinct 1, Ward 1, and Precinct 1, Ward 3.

The Bates vote for Governor, in common with the rest of the state, is greatly below that for President, and is but a trifle higher than that of last year. The Governor has a total of 2988. A plurality of 651 over Douglas, as against a plurality of 1190 in 1903. Douglas carries Precinct 1, Ward 1, Precinct 1, Ward 2, Precinct 1, Ward 3, Precinct 2, Ward 4 and Precinct 1, Ward 5. Captain Weeks receives a handsome vote, with 3662, a plurality of 2296, and loses but one precinct. He is also successful in the entire district, with a total vote of 19,326 to 10,843 for his democratic opponent, carrying every town save Blackstone, Canton Milford and Randolph. Senator Dana is also elected receiving 3509 votes in Newton, a plurality of 2292, and a strong vote throughout the district. Representatives Lowell and Warren with 3324 and 2973 votes respectively, also triumph, their nearest opponents receiving about 1100 votes each. The remainder of the Republican ticket receive pluralities of about 2200 each.

The vote was polled largely in the morning hours, the booths being well filled up to ten o'clock. The Registrars of Voters had done their work so thoroughly that only two changes, caused by typographical errors were required.

The returns began to come in at 5:31 when Precinct 2 of Ward 2 was reported and straggled along until Precinct 1 of Ward 2, the last reached City Hall at 9:32 p. m.

IN RE THE TAX EXTORTION.

How do the long suffering and patient citizens of Newton like the $15 tax rate this year against a $10.50 rate in Brookline? Do we get anything more for it than the Brookline people do? The city Solons will tell you that the reason why our rate is higher is because we have larger area—more streets. Yes, and another reason is that we hire a gang of men at high wages who loaf about a third of the time. You remember the English snob who complained that we in America had no leisure class and was told that we had, only they called them "hoboes" here. He would have found still another leisure class, not hoboes, but presumably working men, in the streets of Newton—working the city.

What property owner could sell his holdings in the city of Newton today for the valuation put upon it by the assessors? Hardly one. And how do they obtain information as to values?

By guessing. This was admitted to the writer by the chief inquisitor of the assessors department, who, when asked why he did not go to headquarters for information said it would be no use—everybody would lie about it—or words to that effect. "Then if you guess wrong," continued the writer, "the citizens have to stand for your mistakes." "Yes," he answered, "and if you don't like it get the law changed."

The following is from a letter I received recently on the subject, which I think will interest Newton tax payers:

"The fact should be drawn out that Massachusetts today should have the widest, most comprehensive, and most advanced method of taxation possible to be devised. Attention might be drawn to the great benefit which, it is well-known, New York and Pennsylvania are deriving from their more correct and liberal systems, or the shrewd laxness with which the existing systems of these states, however bad they may be, are construed, so as to give the results which would be produced by systems wise and progressive in themselves. Instead of being devised by clear, far-seeing financiers and students, the Massachusetts system has grown up under the fostering charge of the assessor. The typical assessor never pays any attention to the sources of property, as between competing communities. He simply looks at its outward results. His desire is to get hold of property wherever he can, and tax it wholly without regard to ultimate consequences, except getting in the amount levied. Accordingly, nine times out of ten, he does all that lies in his power to kill the goose that lays the golden egg.

Massachusetts, therefore, instead of now tinkering at its system of taxation through laws exempting this or the other species of property—like the bill now before the Legislature exempting from taxation the stock of foreign corporations which has been taxed elsewhere and on the other hand, the Domesday Bill, intended to sweep into the hands of the tax collector everything,—the problem of adjusting a burden, heavy at best, so that it can be borne with the least possible distress on the part of the community.

The system of legislation which is and has long been in use in Massachusetts goes out of its way to offer the largest possible premium on perjury and fraud, under circumstances which render detection almost impossible while, at the same time, it places a heavy money penalty upon veracity, good faith and the law obeying spirit.

They have a different way of doing this in New Zealand—a much better way. There they let every citizen place his own valuation on his property with the understanding that the city shall have the right to buy, or cause the property to be sold, at his own valuation. The system works satisfactorily to all concerned: the municipality gets taxes upon the full value of the property within its limits since no citizen can have the face to find a bit of fault with his own valuation. Our system, it would appear, was contrived by nincompoops, administered by nincompoops, and (shall we say of those who patiently hear it?)—for nincompoops.

One Lonesome Kicker.

GENERAL HOLLIS B. HILL.

General Hollis Boardman Hill, until recently a resident of Newton, died Friday afternoon at the Central Maine General Hospital in Lewiston. He was born in Stetson, Me., May 31, 1845. His grandfather, Benjamin Hill, was an officer in the Fourth Regiment of Regulars, United States Army, and died just after the battle of Tippecanoe; while his great-grandfather, James Hill, was an officer in the French and Indian wars. General Hill early engaged in business as a member of the firm of W. & C. R. Milliken of Portland, wholesale grocers. In 1888 he retired ed. In 1892, he resumed more active work and became associated with Colonel Joseph W. Spaulding in the law and collection business in Boston.

His service in the Civil War was noteworthy, and it was a singular coincidence that at the age of nineteen years, as a lieutenant in the volunteer service, he had command of the same post held by his grandfather in 1810 and 1811. He was a member of the Portland City Council in 1886-7, and was at one time a director of the Cumberland National Bank and of the Northern Banking Company of that city.

Funeral services were held from the residence of Major B. J. Hill at Auburn, Me., on Monday at 10 a. m., and the interment followed at Evergreen Cemetery, Portland.

S. A. R.

R., of Newton will have its initial meeting of the season on Monday evening, Nov. 14, in the Universalist Church parlors to hear Captain John Ryan, of the Newton police force, tell of his thrilling experiences in the battle in which General Custer was killed. The December meeting of Newtown Chapter will take place at the Channing church, Newton, and members of the D. A. R. and the D. R. of this city are to be invited as special guests to hear Congressman Samuel L. Powers speak on "Lafayette."

FOR WORLD-UNITY.

One of the items of business which was transacted quite recently by the Suffolk West Conference of Congregational churches, at the session with the Congregational Church at Newton Centre, was the unanimous adoption of the following resolution: "Resolved, that the Suffolk West Conference of Congregational Churches, in order to help to promote the peace of the world, hereby gives its support to the resolution passed unanimously by the Massachusetts legislature in 1903 in favor of a regular international congress and respectfully petitions the Congress of the United States to take favorable action thereon; also, that the scribe of this conference be instructed to transmit this vote to the senior senator and senior representative from Massachusetts in Washington for presentation in their respective branches."

This is one of the steps in the movement for the organization of the world as one political body. The friends of the resolution believe that the time is ripe for regular sessions of an international congress "to meet at stated periods to deliberate upon the various questions of common interest to the nations and to make rec-

1905 approved by the Mayor reach a total of $1,179,517.65 which is about $40,000 less than the wishes of the various departments, and about $6,000 more than the appropriation order for the present year.This is evidence of considerable pruning by the mayor, as the appropriations for 1904 have been exceeded by over $18,000 in regular items, so that the mayor figures the expenses for 1905 as about $12,000 less than 1904. In addition, the budget for 1905 includes a special item of $5000 for furnishing the new Wade School house.The Assessing, Auditing City Clerk, City Messenger, City Engineer, Executive, Law, Registration of Voters and Treasury departments are approved by the mayor without change. The board of printing and stationery account is subdivided to show for what offices it is expended and increased to provide for printing a new edition of the city ordinances. In the Charity department the mayor excludes the item of salaries for the overseers, as it is proposed to abolish this board next year and manage the department by a single commissioner. In the Fire Department, the mayor refuses his endorsement of the purchase of a new combination wagon for $2000 although Chief Randlett can show good reasons for the expenditure. The Health Department is cut $900 on its Contagious Disease. This item is intended to enable the board to make examination of sputum for tuberculosis and has for at least two years failed to receive aldermanic support. The mayor reduces the appropriation for extension of underground wires by $500.
While the total of this item is trifling,
we believe there is a principle involved here which is worthy of careful consideration. This work is in the nature of permanent construction.
It involves the taking down of the wires from poles and placing them in the conduits which have been laid in the streets by the telephone company.
This work will not be necessary again
and as it is permanent in its nature, we believe the expense of it should be bonded. The miscellaneous item in the Library department is cut $460 and the cost of the Upper Falls branch is reduced $50. In the police department the mayor refuses an increase of salary to the drivers of the patrol wagon and to the Chief's stenographer and makes a large saving in the cost of maintenance of horses.
The building department is cut $3700, although a portion of this is placed under the water department and part will be done the present year. There is no increase in the salary account, the item of $50 for stenographic work for the Clerk of Committees having been hitherto been paid from another appropriation. The schools are reduced some $4400 leaving the large total of $237,281 approved. The items for gymnastic equipment at the High School, for the salary of a gymnastic instructor, for the Nonantum Vacation school, for conveyance of the superintendent and for special school supplies are not approved. We understand that His Honor believes that the last two items should be included in the general appropriation for supplies and incidentals which he approves at $20,000. In the Street department, the large item of General Repairs is sub divided the mayor reducing Mr.
Ross' figures some $6800. The drain account is also divided into two items, one for maintenance, and the other for new work. We have so often argued that the appropriation for new drains should become part of the bonded debt, that it is useless to go into the merits of the matter at this time. We will simply say that the tax rate of 1905 will be about 25 cents less if this item is cut from the budget and placed where it belongs.
An item is approved for moth work on the city trees next spring, although the amount will probably be a mere bagatelle to what will be needed at that time. In the street light division, we take issue with both the mayor and the commissioner as to the amount needed. The contract forexisting street lights will call for $54,475, the mayor's approval is for $58,500 while Mr. Ross wishes $51,500. It is true that there are reductions from the contract for outages which will approximate figure $450 for the year, so that on the mayor's idea, there will be allowed only $500 for new lights during 1905. Mr. Ross figures some $4500 for the new lights.
We believe the mayor is too low and the commissioner too high on these figures. For at least two years, there have been but few new lights placed in this city, and in this one department, Newton does not attain the high standard of its municipal service in other directions. At least $2500 should be applied annually for ten years for additional street lights and greater attention and supervision should be given to this most important work.In a general way it would seem as if Mayor Weed intended to mark time in 1905 in municipal expenses, leaving for future consideration those items which, while necessary and desirable in themselves, are still just outside the line of absolute necessities. The outlook for a reduced tax rate next year does not seem promising, and every effort should be made by the aldermen to keep the city expenses down to the lowest point consistent with the proper maintenance of our very valuable municipal equipment.

ELECTION COMMENTS.

have watched and appreciated his course as Governor during the past two years. Very nearly everyone of his official acts must have appealed to the substantial element of the community and he has combined the qualities of an honest, industrious and able executive.The result of the Election in the Twelfth District more than satisfied my own hopes and those of the Congressional Committee which has had in charge my campaign. While Mr.
Hemenway did not make an active campaign, he is a man of such high standing that he would usually get the full vote of his party; that I received such a large vote throughout the district, under such conditions, is most gratifying, but it is the result in Newton which pleases me most.
Nothing can be appreciated more than the esteem and good opinion of ones fellow townsmen and I shall always feel proud of the vote cast for me in Newton Tuesday.

SENATOR DANA.

I very much regret the defeat of Governor Bates, and feel that the people of the Commonwealth unwittingly have committed a great political injustice. We have never had a more conscientious or courageous Governor. While I have not always agreed with all his views, I have always been convinced that his motives were of the highest, and that he had no interests to serve save that of the Commonwealth. He seems to me to have been the victim of circumstances. The Democrats had a candidate whose career made a taking appeal both to the working man and the business man, and whose name is a household word by virtue of long years of skilful advertising. The Governor himself had aroused the opposition of different classes in the community in the necessary performance of his executive functions. The Democrats took advantage of the situation and directed their attacks almost solely upon the Governor. Under the circumstances this met little effective opposition on the part of the Republicans and the result followed. It can justly be said that the Governor has been defeated rather for his virtues than his defects.

SEWARD W. JONES.

The defeat of Governor Bates for re-election after a splendid career, in which he was enthusiastically received everywhere, comes as a surprise to Republicans and Democrats alike. In view of the courageous and manly course of Governor Bates during his term of service, it seems inconceivable how he could be defeated in Massachusetts, especially in a presidential year, when the national ticket carried the state by 86,000.As to the causes, it appears he was cut by the labor vote on account of the veto of the so called overtime bill, by the soldiers on account of the veterans bounty bill veto, and in Boston and vicinity on account of the dissatisfaction with the Chairman of the police board.

W. M. FLANDERS.

The defeat of Gov. Bates is a great surprise as I had presumed there was no question as to his re-election. I know perhaps more than any one else in Newton of Gov. Bates' personal character and the effort he has made to give the state the best possible administration and the unselfishness of his every act. I had felt that he was entitled to a very strong endorsement by the people of this state, and I believe a great injustice has been done a good man, who has reached high position through sheer force of character and ability.Several causes contributed to the result. The Legislature for the past two years has passed bills which never should have been passed, knowing the Governor would veto them, and then did not have the courage to pass them over the veto. The bounty bill, the overtime matter and the reorganization of the agricultural board and I have no doubt but what the Emmons matter had a perceptible effect all over the state. While I believe Judge Emmons intends to enforce the law and to place the Boston police force on a high plane, he has been unfortunate in his methods and has given a wrong impression by his talks to church fairs. While this feeling had been somewhat allayed, the recent Technology affair gave the people an opportunity to unjustly place the blame on Judge Emmons.While I feel that Governor Douglas will give the state a good administration, I firmly believe that Massachusetts will soon learn that it has treated Governor Bates unjustly, and that the defeat of last Tuesday will be harder for the Commonwealth than for the man, himself.

W. F. GARCELON.

Reasons for the defeat of Governor Bates have been enumerated in the daily papers. These include his vetoes, his stand on reciprocity, and the defections of his old-time friends because he would not yield to their unfair and improper demands. I believe that those causes practically took away his plurality of one year ago.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

Middlesex, ss. Personally appeared Samuel W. French, Treasurer of the Newtonville Trust Company, and made oath that the foregoing statement, by him subscribed, is true, to the best of his knowledge and belief.

Before me,

J. CHEEVER FULLER, Justice of the Peace.

JOHN W. WEEKS, President.

DIRECTORS—George W. Morse, Samuel Farquhar, Amos C. Judkins, G.
Fred Simpson, James W. French, George Royal Pulsifer, Frank J. Hale, Sydney Harwood, John F. Lathrop, William F. Hammett, Charles W. Leonard Morace B. Parker.One cause for this year's defeat seems to have been generally overlooked. The Democrats spent a great deal of money, not only in the Democratic strongholds, but in the Republican centers.From my observations I believe that their organization in the details was better than the Republican organization. The circulation of literature and the holding of rallies, is an incident of campaigning, but attention to minor details in every community is more essential.In certain localities like Newton, where there is a strong Republican Committee, the Republican losses are small as compared with those in most of the cities in the state. Having had a long series of victories, I think that the Republican organization has become careless about these smaller matters, and I also think that the State Committee must now begin again to perfect its organization in the essential minor details.The good work of the Democratic organization in this and the last two years gained many votes for Douglas this year and accounts for the democratic plurality. Underrating an opponent and neglecting hard work in careful preparation often bring defeat.

C. E. HATFIELD.

The tremendous overturn in the vote for Governor in Massachusetts is almost incomprehensible. Nearly every Republican, conversant with political conditions in this state, admitted before election that Governor Bates would probably run behind the national ticket, to the extent of some 20,000 or 25,000 votes; but I do not believe that even the most sanguine Democrat expected any such complete overturn as has elected Mr. Douglas.There were many factors, of course, that went to cause this change. Mr.
Douglas was probably one of the best-advised and best-known men whom it was possible for the Democratic Party to nominate. His stand on reciprocity undoubtedly gained him many Republican votes.I dislike to believe that the manly stand of Governor Bates on the "Overtime" and "Bounty" bills were the real causes, although they contributed largely to his defeat. It is evident that the G. A. R. vote was against the Governor, and that in the large cities the personality of Chairman Emmons cost the head of the Republican ticket many votes.
If any considerable number of voters had supposed that there was a possibility of the election of Mr.
Douglas, would they have voted for him?We are Getting Ready for

One of Sheridan's Dodges.

It is related of Richard Brinsley Sheridan, the dramatist and statesman, that, always in debt, he had among his creditors the brothers Charlie, who were the partners in a wine firm in 1776. One day when he was giving a dinner party to some distinguished people Sheridan sent for one of the brothers, told him he was now able to settle his account and invited him to the dinner party, asking him to come before the hour for some private conversation. Charlie arrived early, and he was no sooner in the house than Sheridan sent off a servant with a note to the clerk desiring him as Mr. Charlie was favoring him with his company, to send as soon as possible three dozen of burgundy, two dozen of claret and two dozen of port, with a dozen of old hock. The unsuspecting clerk sent the wine, with which the guests were so pleased that they asked where it came from. Sheridan, turning toward Charlie, said, "I am indebted to my friend here for all the wine you have tasted and am always proud to recommend him." It was not until the following morning that Charlie realized the double meaning in Sheridan's words. The debt was canceled.

The Lonely Librarian.

At the English universities the libraries are so little used that they have become famous as places of unbroken solitude. One yarn told to illustrate this is to the effect that an elderly fellow of Calus college, Cambridge, got tired of life and determined to put himself quietly and unostentatiously out of the way, so that the world in general and Calus college in particular should know him no more. Being a man with a great love for his university and a greater love still for his college, he made up his mind that no scandal should be caused by his sudden departure, so he debated in his mind the ways and means. His decision was an inspiration. He bought a decent length of rope and hanged himself in the college library. But his hopes were doomed to disappointment. He was discovered a year and a half later.

Long Cooking.

Of fresh foods the elephant's foot needs cooking the longest time, as it does not acquire its proper tenderness and succulence till it has been baked for about thirty-six hours. Next comes tripe, which requires from ten to fifteen hours of boiling before it becomes thoroughly digestible. Next come hams of good size, which require from six to seven hours. Of roast meats, a haunch of venison takes longer than any other joint—about three and a half hours. Of puddings, the Christmas pudding comes easily first, as it is boiled over and over again. Sometimes it is kept for months or years and undergoes several boilings. The average time is from six to eight hours. The vegetable which takes the longest time to cook is the onion.—London Mail.

Huxley on Darwin's Degree.

Huxley did not love degrees, but he had to have one. Anticipating the donning of the red gown he informed his friends that after the ceremony he would have to be treated as a person of respectability. "I have done my best to avoid that misfortune," said he, "but it's of no use." It was Oxford that paid him the compliment, as it had done to Darwin two years earlier. When Darwin was given the degree Huxley let him have no false idea as to the honor bestowed. "Canon Pusey," he declared, "has been making inquiry as to who are the blackest heretics on the list proposed. He was glad to assist in your case in order to keep out seven devils worse."

Near Side and Off Side.

When horses were first hitched to vehicles the driver never thought of riding himself, but walked by the side of the road as he held the lines. So as to have his right hand always ready he walked on the left side, and consequently the horse on the left side came to be known as the "near" horse, and the one on the right side was called the "off" horse. In that manner the terms "near horse" and "off horse" became general and still pertain to horses hitched as a team.

Reluctant to Give Up.

"Lend me $10, old man. I'm a little short."
"That won't help you any. You'll be just as short after getting the money."
"Nonsense, old chap! How do you make that out?"
"Why, after giving you the $10 I don't expect to see you any longer."
—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

He Probably Took the Hint.

Young Tutter—Miss Clara, suppose that tomorrow evening I should call again and, having nerved myself up to it, suddenly, while we were conversing, I should without a word throw my arms around your neck and deliberately kiss you, what would you do? Miss Tinkley—Oh, Mr. Tutter, don't ask me to look so far ahead.

A Maddening Position.

The hardest thing a girl does is to refrain from asking a man a question that she knows will make him mad when she is just boiling with curiosity to know the answer. —Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Easy Remedy.

He—Here is your dressmaker's bill. She is becoming impatient for her money. She—Indeed. Then I must call tomorrow and order a new dress.

The Brute.

She—You married me for my money. He—Well, it's no use grieving over it now; it's all gone.—New Yorker.

PICTURES AND OBJECTS OF ART AT BIGELOW & JORDAN'S.

Bromfield street, with its book stores, its flower and art stores, is as quaint a little thoroughfare as there is in Boston, and in its short length there is no spot more interesting than the art store of Bigelow & Jordan at Number 11, near Washington street. The most hurried passerby cannot resist at least a moment's pause to cast an appreciative glance into its attractive window, and he might spend a good half hour, should he be tempted to step inside, in enjoying the beautiful pictures, vases, etchings and engravings.

There are some choice examples of the French school, with such names as Meissonier and Puget represented. Hope has at least one representative Dutch landscape. The works of American and especially of the best known local artists is shown to great advantage. Enneking, C. E. Pierce, the painter of cattle, L. M. Lamb, whose striking canvas "In Full Cry" attracted so much attention last year at the art exhibition of the Mechanics' Fair, have all some notable examples of their talent in this gallery. A picture in oils by Miss Johnson showing a white goose suspended in startling relief against an old barn door is a splendid piece of work.

The firm of Bigelow and Jordan has recently purchased the stock of the late E. W. Noyes as well as the private collection of that gentleman. This collection includes not only water colors, paintings in oil, engravings, and etchings but also some rarely beautiful colored photographs, the work of the famous Joseph Wilson of London. They have 10 folios of fine subjects. All this collection and stock they are offering at a most unusual discount: 50 to 75 percent below regular prices.

A visitor should not neglect to inspect the examples of a new and beautiful American ware, made in Zanesville, Ohio. It is called Rozane and is not only artistic in coloring and of gracefully varied shapes, but very inexpensive.

The Pilgrim Press Bookstore takes subscriptions to all the leading papers and magazines at club rates.

At the Theatres

Coming Attractions

Hollis Street Theatre—William Gillette's engagement at the Hollis Street Theatre, Boston, will come to an end in two weeks from Monday, Nov. 14, and this star will not be seen anywhere else in New England in his present play, J. M. Barrie's "The Admirable Crichton," which has been so enthusiastically received in that city. Mr. Gillette's interpretation of the leading role in this fantastical comedy has added much to this actor's already great personal following, while the beauty and strength of Mr. Barrie's creation has received a magnificent production at the hands of Charles Frohman. Seats are now on sale at the box office of the Hollis Street for the entire remainder of the engagement, including the special matinee on Thanksgiving Day. The curtain rises at eight o'clock for the evening performances and at two o'clock for the Saturday matinee.

Keith's Theatre—There is an attractiveness about the program of vaudeville entertainment announced to be given at Keith's Boston Theatre during the week of Nov. 14 that can scarcely fail of attracting large audiences to every performance. Among the leading attractions may be mentioned Paul Powell's electric marionettes, which is the latest importation from Paris, and superior to anything of the kind ever before produced in the varieties in this country; "Christmas on Blackwell's Island," a vocal and comedy sketch, to be presented by four noted singers and comedians, headed by Sydney Dean; Fred Hallen, formerly of Hallen and Hart, and Molly Fuller, in an original farce called "Election Bets."

Majestic Theatre—Miss Ada Rehan, supported by Charles Richman and an especially selected company of players will be the attraction at the Majestic Theatre for two weeks only, beginning Monday evening, Nov. 14. This comedienne has selected "The School for Scandal," "The Taming of the Shrew" and "The Country Girl" as the plays for her repertoire for her Boston engagement, and for the first week it is announced as follows: "The Taming of the Shrew," Monday, Tuesday and Saturday nights and Saturday matinee; and "The School for Scandal," Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights. The seat sale has been in progress since Wednesday, Nov. 9, and there has naturally been a brisk demand for tickets. Mail orders will receive prompt attention if addressed to Manager Smith of the Majestic Theatre.

Tremont Theatre—The charming characterization of Henrietta Crossman as "Sweet Kitty Bellairs" in David Belasco's play of the same name at the Tremont Theatre, have crowned her with new laurels. In her portrayal of the young Irish widow, she magnificently illustrates her great versatility. Her work is thoroughly artistic, the interpretation of Kitty Bellairs being all that the most exacting, ardent Irishman could wish for. A feature of Miss Crossman's performance which has excited unlimited complimentary comment in her dialect, which is as refreshing as a cool bubbling spring on a sultry day. It is the Simon-pure quality as true to the people of Dublin as "guess" is to the Yankee—and it comes as natural from her as though she was born and bred on the banks of the Liffey. As Sweet Kitty Bellairs, Miss Crossman is a positive relief from the vulgar, overdrawn character often presented as a true type of the real Irish girl.

Grand Opera House—Robert Fitzsimmons, who has won much fame in the world of pugilism and who is now endeavoring to win laurels as an actor the Brittons, two of the liveliest real comic singers and dancers in vaudeville; Will H. Murphy and Blanche Nichols, in the screamingly funny burlesque, "From 'Zaza' to 'Uncle Tom'"; and Herbert Brooks, one of the greatest living card manipulators who also introduces a wonderful trunk mystery. Two noted monologue comedians, James F. MacDonald and Chas Keena, and the popular German dialect comedians, Raymond and Caverly, are also on the bill. All new pictures will be shown in the Biograph.

Columbia Music Hall, Boston—Better than ever is the entertainment at the Columbia Music Hall. Another successful Weber-Field musical farce "Fiddle-Dee-Dee" is being given for the musical portion of the entertainment. Miss Adgie and her lions are one of the most sensational turns in vaudeville ranks. In addition the lady has the cutest imaginable little baby lion which she permits the ladies of the audience to fondle to their manifold delight. It is a long time since better dancing has been seen on the local stage, of the whirlwind character, than that given by the Salvagis. Frank O'Brien does a tramp acrobat act which never fails to induce immense applause and laughter. In addition are Cordua and Maud, wire athletes; Mattie Lokett, child impersonator, and the Browning Sisters, novelty singers and dancers. The matinees are given every day. Next week the main feature of the bill will be another funny Weber-Fields farce called "Tiddle-Dee-Winks."

will come to the Grand Opera House next week in a new play written especially for him by Hal Reid entitled "A Fight for Love." The pugilist has surrounded himself with an excellent cast, which includes his wife, known to the sage as Julia May Gifford, who is extremely handsome and wears beautiful gowns. The usual matinees at this theatre will be given on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

READ FUND LECTURE.

Dr. John C. Bowker, who lectures next Tuesday evening in the Read Fund course at Bigelow School hall on "The Slay and the Jap" is so well known to the citizens of Newton as to need little introduction. His lectures are always interesting and his illustrations are notable for their clearness, appropriateness and coloring. It is evident that in the lecture selected for next week Dr. Bowker will meet and satisfy a great public desire.

The Pilgrim Press Bookstore, 14 Beacon St., Boston, is one of the handiest in the city for Newton people, as well as one of the pleasantest to visit.

Literary Notes.

"Affairs at Washington," a panorama of Americanism in the making; "John Hay speaks for the Nation"—two great addresses by the secretary of state; "Empire-Building in North-west Canada"—an astonishing paper illustrated with portraits of a dozen of the empire-builders; "Along the Color Line" in the South—with three remarkably fine portraits of negro types; "The Minute Man," a vivid and witty pen sketch of the typical New Englander; "The Story of Mark Twain," a California "big tree"—these and a dozen other features show the continental scope of the National Magazine for November. The army's war play and national politics are aptly illustrated. Applied science is touched in "A Master of Dissection," the story of our greatest living anatomist. New portraits of Elsie Shannon, Eleanor Robson and Minnie Madder Fiske adorn brief, concise biographical sketches of these famous players. Yone Noguchi, the Japanese poet, gives an unique character study of Edwin Markham, the famous American poet, whose newest portrait is presented with the article. Frank Putnam pungently reviews four state campaigns of national interest, with portraits of Deneen of Illinois and Folk of Missouri. "The Home" department is richer than ever, with new ideas for every member of the family, from Baby to Dad. The foregoing is the mere framework of the magazine. It is filled in with five short stories and five poems of the kind you clip and paste into your scrap-book. The stories are: "Teddy's Romance," by Mrs. Bunting; "The Tale of a Stage-Struck Girl," by John A. Schetty; "How Reuben Spent Thanksgiving Night," by Lillian O'Connell; "When the Hens of Germany Went on Strike," by Ethel Armes, and "The Evolution of Richard Rush, Attorney" by Edward M. Woolley. Fifty men and women contribute to the number—with pencil, brush and camera.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

Removal of Car Tracks on Homer St. Laid on the Table.

Important Hearing on Proposed Park at Newtonville State Election Results Declared.

The adjourned meeting of the board was held Monday evening at 7:45 p. m. with President Saltonstall in the chair for the first time for five months.

Present, Aldermen Baker, Bishop, Brown, Cabot, Carter, Dennison, Ellis, Essign, Hunt, Johnson, Riley, Webster, Weston and White.

HEARING.

A hearing was held on the petition of W. H. Eaves et al relative to taking land for park purposes, junction of Walnut st, Watertown st and Lowell ave.

Mr. Chas. F. Avery presented letters in favor of the project from Mr. Frank W. Chase, Master of the Horace Mann School, who spoke of the injury done to the school-children by the unsightly character of the buildings and their surroundings. He found by a canvass made last spring, that more than one-half of the pupils of the Horace Mann School and the Adams School passed these premises four times a day. He spoke of the unsightly ash barrels, waste baskets, remains of bicycles, sticks, stones and other nondescript articles which were constantly in evidence. The influence of such conditions upon the children led him to believe would have a bad effect. He felt sure that their penmanship would be carelessly done, their arithmetic slovenly prepared, their standard of neatness lowered, and their ideals of citizenship and civic pride would be blunted.

Mr. William T. Rich said that although he was now a resident of another Ward, he was for ten years a resident of Ward 2, and was still a property owner and tax payer there. He states that the old block on Lowell avenue has been a growing menace to residential development and property values, but that he had endured the blighting influence in the hope that the generous public and a just City Government would some time take action to remedy conditions. He referred to a recent sale in the vicinity which realized only 50 percent of its assessed valuation, and this fact has had a most demoralizing effect upon the sales and rentals in that vicinity. This disparity between the market values and the assessed values must mean a corresponding shrinkage in assessments and income to the city. The plan has the advantage and argument of precedent, and no new idea is being advocated, only after the people have done their share, the City Government is asked, as it has been just to others under similar circumstances, to be just in this case.

A letter from Ex-Alderman John M. Stickney stated that the moving of the unsightly buildings was in every way worthy of the consideration of all citizens who have the good name of our fair city at heart.

Mr. Avery then introduced Mr. John B. Willis, who lives at the corner of Watertown and Nevada Streets. He said that it was not a question of sentiment alone, but that the business man must conserve his capital and look forward to the opportunities for enlargement. The area in question is centrally located, being bounded by Nevada, California, Watertown, Walnut and Edinboro Streets and Lowell avenue. There are between 250 and 300 lots in this area, and the question is whether they shall be developed on the plan of Nonantum or Newton. If developed on the Nonantum plan the valuation will be far less than if developed on the Newton plan. It will mean a difference of between $600,000 and $800,000. He believed that the City could afford to meet the wishes of the petitioners, and that it would soon receive benefit by so doing.

Mr. Henry F. Ross was called. He had owned property in that neighborhood for 20 years, and would now be glad to sell it for the price he paid for it at the time of purchase. When it came into his possession he proposed to develop it as he had done his property in other parts of the City, but he had been unable to do so while this triangular piece of land with its buildings existed. It would have been a good investment if he had bought the objectionable lot at that time and laid it waste, but he did not feel like bearing the burden alone. It is hardly fair to consider it a favorable piece of property, for it is the home of rats and vermin. To get rid of the unsightly property some one must purchase it, but the citizens do not feel like paying for the whole, although they are willing to pay a part of the amount, as the property within half a mile will be greatly enhanced if the City should lay this area out as a Park. The Park property near by is assessed for about $13,000, but it can be purchased for $8,000. The Smith property recently sold for $3600, has been held for between eight and nine thousand dollars, and taxed for $7,000 which clearly shows that property in that locality is rapidly decreasing in value.

Mr. N. H. Chadwick was called. He is one of the property owners in that vicinity and believes it to be a good sound business proposition for the City to help the people out, as the block is a public nuisance today. He has passed this property daily for about 20 years and has seen it degenerate. The ownership of this tract as a Public Park by the City would maintain the valuation of the property in the vicinity, and enhance its value for the future.

Ex-Alderman John F. Lothrop was then called. He referred to the pleasure it was to him to again speak before the Board, as he was sure that the members all knew him well enough to feel that he would not believe for the best interests of the city. He referred to the vicinity as containing homes that were occupied by their owners, and he believed it should be the effort of the City to induce others to make their homes among us. He spoke of the central character of this lot. Watertown street passes it, Lowell Avenue, Walnut street and Prescott street lead up to it and so do Crafts street and Central Avenue. It is a most central point. As he said before, most of the residents about there own their own homes, and he himself had resided in the vicinity over 30 years. In order to preserve the character of the neighborhood in its development he had with Mr. Judkins purchased some 15 acres of land several years ago, of course with the hope of disposing of it, but in a manner to protect the neighborhood. When the Smith property was sold I was authorized by several persons to purchase it so that it would not go into undesirable hands. He believed it would be a good investment for the city to purchase the land in question. A small strip of the land is now owned by the City. In reply to a question of Pres. Saltonstall, he stated that the depth was about 30 feet and that it ran out to about 150 feet. The City pays $30,000 for a Metropolitan Park Assessment, and of course it reaches a good many people directly, but if the city does not take this land, the people will not be able to pay for the whole, and the property in that locality will greatly depreciate in value, and the Assessors will be asked to recognize the unfavorable conditions. The people would not object to the small increase in valuation, should the City make the purchase, and the City Treasury would very soon be reimbursed by the additional taxable values.

In reply to another question asked by Pres. Saltonstall, he stated that an option on the land had been secured, but that they should try to buy at the lowest possible figure.

Mr. Avery stated that the abutments had subscribed $4,000, friends had contributed over $6,000 and they asked the City to give $5,000.

This property is 5 minutes walk from Washington Street and there are 21 houses immediately surrounding it. Towards West Newton there is an open tract of land partially developed, suitable for the best class of residences. This will be affected by this block if it is allowed to remain. The houses in the vicinity cost between five and six thousand dollars each, but people will never buy or live in the houses near there while this block remains. It is located between two schools, a cancer on the face of the earth, and if allowed to remain will contaminate the property in the neighborhood. If the City promptly removes this cancer it will add to the value of the property in the neighborhood. His own property was half a mile away, and aside from the aesthetic features of the case, it would be decreased in value if this block was allowed to remain.

Mr. Lothrop stated that it had not been brought out that there was a school at the corner of Crafts street, the old Adams School, and occupies a large lot. As it is an old wooden building it may not be used for school purposes by the City much longer, and as an interested party the City will not want its taxable value to be impaired if it is ever to be sold.

At the request of Mr. Avery, Pres. Saltonstall asked all persons present in favor of the park to rise. 35 persons were counted as in favor, and nobody appeared in opposition.

The hearing was then closed and the matter referred to the Committee on Public Works.

THE HOSPITAL.

Annual Appeal of Its Trustees.

For Liberal Contributions Next Sunday.

The approach of a quarter century mark is worthy of mention, especially when it is possible to add that the year now ending carries with it a record of liberality on the part of friends and effective service on the part of the Hospital not previously attained.

An increase of income, derived from the Hospital Sunday collections of last year, the personal contributions made in response to our circular at that time, and from other sources, has made possible the carrying out of plans which have added greatly to our efficiency. Almost a complete reorganization has been effected. Extended facilities, giving greater possibilities of service from the medical and Hospital staff, have resulted in an increased number of patients, cared for under improved conditions and with additional comforts. There remain, however, important needs not yet satisfied, and to these the Board of Trustees hope to be able to give early attention through the generosity of the response to this appeal.

With very great satisfaction we are able to state that many persons who were actively interested in the Newton Hospital at its inception, twenty-four years ago, are still among the earnest helpers and supporters. The mission of our Hospital is perpetual, and to the citizens of Newton it has rightly become an every-day responsibility. It is the gratifying duty of some to attend to the details of management. With equal satisfaction others contribute to the treasury, the results of each year being entirely dependent upon the loyalty and generosity of the helpers and givers. The unselfish interests of the founders comes to us as an inheritance; let us pass it undiminished to those who will later assume our responsibilities.

There should perhaps be no word of criticism, so let this rather be considered one of suggestion. It is unfortunate that so few of our citizens visit the Hospital when well; and it is equally noticeable that all are enthusiastic as to our equipment and management when they are forced to become familiar with the service through personal treatment or from the testimony of intimate friends.

Each year we are greatly encouraged by the amount of the total contributions, and also by the constantly increasing number of givers; but it is quite reasonable that this, the largest of our local charities, with doors wide open to every resident, should receive financial assistance from only about one-fifth of the families within our borders? Should not quite a proportion of the remaining four-fifths show their interest by becoming givers "according to their means?"

On Hospital Sunday and during the week following we invite all who are interested, and all who should be, to contribute either through the usual collections made in our churches or directly to Mr. George S. Bullens, Treasurer, Newton, Mass. We confidently look for a "Celebration Response" benefitting the commencement of the Hospital's twenty-fifth year of gratifying service.

For the Newton Hospital,
Frank A. Day,
A Lawrence Edmunds,
George Hutchinson,
Charles I. Travelli,
Henry E. Bothfeld,
Finance Committee.
November 10, 1904.

The executive Committee desires to inform the generous contributors that the Hospital is increasing its usefulness each year, not only by increased demands upon its accommodations, but by an added number of the sick poor, who pay nothing or only a small part of the cost of their care, such patients numbering nearly one-third of the whole number admitted to the Hospital during the past and present year. With the new matron and assistant superintendent of nurses installed and successfully carrying on the regular work of the Hospital, and the experiment of having a house physician proving a source of gratification and satisfaction to officers, physicians, and patients, we feel well equipped to grapple with the enlarged opportunities which constantly present themselves, and are likely to increase each year. It is therefore essential for the committee to have sufficient funds available to continue the Hospital on its present progressive basis.

Respectfully submitted,
William O. Hunt,
F. S. Keith,
Charles E. Kelsey,
George E. May,
F. E. Porter,
George R. Pulsifer,
George W. Shinn,
Joseph R. Leeson,
W. Clayton Bray,
Executive Committee.

Board of Aldermen.

Alderman Johnson: Sympathy should not enter into this matter, only the best interests of the city should be considered. This is a dangerous street and often times it is a nuisance to travel on it. I believe the street will need immediate widening if the tracks remain.

Alderman White: It is good policy to take up tracks in narrow streets, particularly such a narrow, crooked street as Homer street. I personally saw an accident there where a horse was thrown down by coming in contact with a car. Newton Centre people are practically unanimous that the tracks should be removed, and this would leave it a beautiful street for driving purposes.

Alderman Ensign: This is an important matter and I would like to see this order in print. As the full board is not present I move that the matter be tabled.

Alderman Bishop: The order was prepared by the City Solicitor.

The motion to table was then carried, 9 in favor to 5 against.

Alderman Saltonstall: I desire to express my thanks to the board for the resolutions of sympathy sent me during my recent illness.

And at 10:08 p. m. the board adjourned.

NASAL CATARRH.

It is surprising what relief is afforded by Cabot's SULPHO-NAPHTHOL to those troubled with nasal catarrh and kindred affections. So many people suffer from it at this time when fall is giving way to winter. A neglected cold in the head paves the way to endless trouble in future years. Sulpho-Naphthol should be used at once as a spray or by sniffing. It affords instant relief in cases of nasal catarrh and at once arrests and prevents the development of a cold in the head into this dread disease.

Street Railway Notes.

The Boston and Worcester Trolley Air line made a gain of 20 percent in October 1904 over the month of October the previous year and has made the same gain the first week in November. The outlook for November and December is very promising and the Company has more cars to take care of the holiday travel. Special arrangements have been made for the Thanksgiving and Christmas traffic between Boston and Worcester and on the branch lines. The Trolley Air Line is becoming more popular every day as the increased earnings show.

THE MOTHERS' REST.

Young persons of Newton Centre and Newton Highlands presented the rustic drama, "Old Acre Folk," before an audience that filled Lincoln Hall, Newton Highlands Saturday evening. The sketch was in two acts, the scenes being laid in a Maine village in laying and sleighing time, respectively. The play was for the benefit of the Mothers' Rest, a charitable institution at Newton Highlands, to which many worthy women and children are sent each summer.

The characters were artistically depicted. Walter Greenwood played the leading character of Caleb Evans, the deacon, with much ability, and the other characters were assumed as follows: Jaffrey, the son, Harold White; Job Hardy, the stranger, Norman Behneke; Aaron Playfair, the squire, Clifton White; Ebenezer Ham, Ma's boy, Hyton Bravo; Elizabeth Ann, the squire's daughter, Miss Marian Miller; Emma Eliza, the deacon's wife, Miss Grace Miller.

Among Women.

At the last meeting of the Social Science Club of Newton, Mrs. Francis Hornbroke gave a sketch of the life and work of Sybil Jones the Quaker missionary. The paper was greatly enjoyed, not only from the clear and well-modulated delivery, but also from the personal touch that Mrs. Hornbroke was able to give. Sybil Jones having been a relative. This devout woman had many talents, being born an orator, although none of her speeches have ever been published. She exerted a great influence over the ignorant and criminals, reforming many men in prisons, and when in Liberia she gained the love of the women there to such an extent that they painted their faces white to be like her. She was the first to speak on intemperance before English audiences. Her life and work so impressed Whittier that he wrote a poem dedicated to her, which Mrs. Hornbroke possesses and gives in her sketch. Its value is priceless as it has never appeared in any published edition of Whittier's works.

The Thanksgiving season in this city always brings an unequalled opportunity to our citizens to assist in the maintenance of that valuable Newton institution, the Newton Hospital. This benevolence has been before the public so long, and is so well and favorably known that it needs no words of ours to bring home to each and all, the fact that it is doing the most humane, far reaching and charitable work in the city.

When it is realized that our most prominent men and women are giving freely of their means, and what is of equal importance, their time and advice in the management of its affairs, it seems only fair that the average resident should be willing to contribute, once a year, at the glad Thanksgiving season, something towards its maintenance.

With the improvements in the Hospital plant and management, the scope of its work has been increased and the City of Newton should make it a point of honor that its new usefulness shall be given hearty support.
Hospital Sunday should be made a record breaker and if the weather is not pleasant, we trust the generous minded will not fail to communicate with Treasurer, Geo. S. Bullens, at Newton.

We hope to be able to make a comparison between the town of Brookline and our own city in the near future with reference to the difference in the tax rates and other matters to which our correspondent of last week referred.

NEW CHURCH.

The West Newton Unitarian Society,
at a meeting Monday night voted almost unanimously to proceed with the erection of a new church to cost about $75,000 above the ground. The site will be near the present church on Washington street, and will be determined later by a Committee. A Building Committee consisting of Josiah E. Bacon, Geo. H. Ellis, C. P.
Hall, R. S. Gorham, Henry Whitmore
Mrs. C. H. Ames and Mrs. G. A.
Frost, and a Finance Committee consisting of Lawrence Bond, E. B. Haskell, C. S. Dennison, Geo. Hutchinson and John W. Weeks were appointed.
The Society is debating the question as to making the new structure a free

DEATH OF H. M. CHASE.

The many friends of Mr. Herbert
M. Chase of Newtonville, son of Dr. and Mrs. Stephen F. Chase, will be grieved at the news of his death which occurred in Alpine, California, Thursday, Nov. 10th. He was born in Topsfield, Mass., July 11th, 1869, spent his early boyhood in Salem and moved to Newton in 1883 where he attended and graduated from the Newton High School in 1887. He entered Amherst College that fall and at once took high rank in his class. He was elected to the Phi Beta Kappa in the first drawing, was one of the Hardy prize debaters and one of the Commencement speakers at his graduation from Amherst in 1891. Mr. Chase was editor and business manager of the Amherst Literary Monthly and received, in 1894, from Amherst, the degree of
A. M. He graduated from Boston University School of Law in June 1894, Magna Cum Laude, receiving the degree of L. L. B. The position of instructor in the law school followed from January 1895 to the autumn of 1900 when failing health compelled him to resign and give up his law practice. His work at the University won him high praise as did that in his law practice and among his legal associates. He was a former director of the Newton Associated Charities and at the time of his removal from Newton was its president. The last four years have been spent in Arizona and California in a fruitless search for health during which time he was most faithfully attended by his devoted wife. Mr. Chase was a man of rare ability and had already made a name for himself among the younger members of the bar. His beautiful spirit and integrity of character had won for him many warm friends and all of these and all those with whom he had the slightest dealings will mourn his early death. He leaves a widow, formerly Miss Mildred H. Thompson, of Newtonville. A religious service was held at Alpine and the remains were cremated at Los Angeles. The interment will be later in the family lot in Newton Cemetery.

Notice of funeral later in Boston papers.

FRANCIS PEABODY MERRIAM DEAD.

Francis Peabody Merriam an old resident of Middleton died Wednesday dleton, where he had resided during his life with the exception of the last four years during which time being in feeble health he has made his home with his daughter in Newton Highlands. He was nearly 87 years old and for many years was one of the leading citizens of the town. The early portion of his life was devoted to the manufacture of shoes in Middleton. For over fifty years he gave his attention to this industry doing a large and successful business. He has held many offices of trust having been for many years one of the directors of the First National Bank, Danvers, also one of the trustees of the Danvers Savings Bank. He also served one term in the legislature. He was a member of the Congregational Church in Middleton and during his long life there he contributed very largely to the support of the church and society.

always took a great interest in the affairs of the town.

widow and two daughters, Mrs. Lester M. Dorr and Miss Mary F. Merriam. Funeral services were held at his late home, 20 Dickerman road,

BENEATH THE GILDED DOME.

"Pa, what does 'snowed-under' mean?"

"It means that when a man, perhaps two, are out on the road and a snow storm comes up which they do not mind, they keep on traveling and the snow keeps on falling until they become blocked, and gradually sink to the ground and are covered with the beautiful snow. The next morning the sun comes out and shines on the beautiful snow, which is smooth and lovely as is possible in all the stillness, while it gives no evidence of the men who lay silent beneath. That is what snowed-under means my son."

"Well, Pa, I heard some men talking last night and one said 'Parker and Bates got pretty well snowed under'."

"Same thing, my boy, same thing; now, run along to school and remember that men as well as boys sometimes have to learn lessons."

The most remarkable election which ever took place in the country has passed into history, and fifteen millions of voters have hardly recovered their breath to this day. There never was an election before when it was not possible for some one to explain how certain things happened, but this event leaves the wisest helpless, and the most foolish as sane as the best balanced in the land. Of course there are some who will say "I told you so," but they never told you so; they never imagined it for a moment.

There are men who have bet on this election, as they do on every election, so that they have come out about even. They have hedged on Parker, Roosevelt, Bates and Douglas, but no man was reckless enough to bet that Roosevelt would have 340 electoral votes or that Douglas would have 37,000 plurality; that would have been school-boy foolishness indeed. So far as the National election goes, the returns indicate that the Democratic party, with the exception of a broken solid South, neglected to go to the polls, and that the Roosevelt vote, like the apple crop this year, was so numerous that much of it might have been left on the ground.

What an endorsement to give Henry Loomis Nelson, Frank Sanborn, Edward Atkinson and other political L.L.D.'s! Although Mayor Collins said Roosevelt was not fit to be president, a good many seem to differ with Mr. Collins.

The fate of Governor Bates was the most astounding political event that ever occurred in this Commonwealth, and its effect upon the Republican party in Massachusetts has been so impressive that it is almost nauseating, some, even among the Democrats deplore the tremendous proportions of the urgent rebuke, for that is what it is in reality. Many men who voted against his excellency would recall their action today if they could lessen the stunning effect of the blow. More than one has said in substance that they felt that Governor Bates ought to be called down, but they did not believe in annihilation. It was the most cruel thing that has been done in political life since the heart of William E. Russell was broken in a Democratic Convention. It seems to be the fate in politics for big hearted men to sweat drops of blood, and it is exceedingly suggestive to observe sometimes how exacting is public opinion when applied to a candidate.

To say that Governor Bates has invited defeat, would certainly not be putting it too strong, and to follow such a reflection with the proposition that he ought to have expected defeat, would have undoubtedly been accepted as reasonable. Such a fate was plainly foreshadowed as long ago as last spring, and the certainty of disaster increased as the months went by. If Mr. Bates had seen what was so evident he should have gone before the Convention last October and covered himself with glory by declining renomination, that he might be the first to emphasize the proposition that no man should fill the Executive Chair more than two successive years. Hundreds of Republicans have said this autumn that if this were not presidential year, Governor Bates could not possibly be re-elected, the Governor himself ought to have been able to see farther than that. The 26th of last March it was said in this column that "if the conduct of the Legislature foreshadowed future action in the state at large, Governor Bates was serving his last term." A man so conversant with the Legislature as is Mr. Bates must know that when he is looking at the House of Representatives, he is looking at the State in miniature. Any one who saw the indignation of the leading representatives of the agricultural interests of the state, as it was manifested in the Committee Room last spring, ought not to have been dumfounded at the recent election results. The need of the husbandman comes slowly to fruition, but it generally comes.

Other contributing causes for the defeat of Mr. Bates were the Over-time bill; new division of liquor license fees; a direct tax on inheritance; savings bank deposits to go on interest monthly; the corporation tax for the state, and last but not least, Emmoniam plus the Boston police and the Tech students.

It would not be the most surprising thing in this world of surprises if a movement should be inaugurated to elect Governor Bates as successor to Senator Lodge by the incoming Legislature. This would be encouraged by the enemies of Senator Lodge and supported by the friends of Governor Bates; both gentlemen are in possession of friends and enemies and many believe that the Senator has not been all in all to the Governor during the recent campaign.

One of the numerous events connected with the election to the House of Representatives, was that of a man who began to serve a sentence of sixty days for violating the United States Statutes the day before his election. It is perhaps useless to mention that the criminal hailed from Boston, and that he was a convicted violator of law when he served in the Legislature last year. His term of service will expire in time for him to be present at the exercises connected with his expulsion from the House, which will undoubtedly be one of the first events of the session. The particular disgrace connected with the career of Representative Curley does not rest so much with that gentleman as with the 17th Boston District which has twice elected him to the Legislature since the crime was committed.

Intimately connected with the Curley election is the election to the House of Mr. Martin Lomasney the boss Democratic politician of Boston who is the leader of the Tammany Club that gave Curley an ovation the day he was sent to jail. There-entry of Mr. Lomasney into legislative life—for he has been there before—is undoubtedly a matter of business with him rather than any desire to serve the Commonwealth.

In reviewing the incoming Legislature the attempt will be all the more satisfactory considering the fact that many of the members are to be returned and others who have been members in years gone by are to once more enter official life as members of the great and general court.

Communication.

To the Graphic.

It was a satisfaction to read the fine letter in your issue of last week (signed C. F. A.) which gave such a clear statement of the case regarding our public school teachers.

It cannot be possible that the city of Newton would be willing to follow any plan looking towards a reduction of the salaries of our teachers. Where can one find such intelligent, faithful, noble service? And if anyone doubts that the teachers earn every cent of their money, let him spend a morning in one of our busy school-rooms, and he would never doubt again.

The Superintendent's continued repetition of the phrase "vacancies which are sure to occur," has a very ominous sound, and having a fund ready to pay a higher salary when the said teacher shall have received an offer from another school seems like the torturers of the Middle Ages.

No consideration apparently is to be given to quality of work, capability, or term of service, in our Superintendent's most remarkable scheme, neither does it consider the amount of time and money and hard work which has been required to fit these teachers for their positions.

A green girl from Ireland can land here, with no training or education, can find a good place at once where she earns board and wages, and in six months time will be receiving as much as our teachers at present receive. This is counting $6 per week for 52 weeks, $312, and her board, which at the teachers' rate of $365, equals $677. Sir William Ramsay has called attention to this under payment of American teachers of all kinds and he declared in a recent speech that "unless scholarship was made attractive to them by fairly adequate payment there would be a decline in the teaching power of the country and ultimately in the intellectual quality of its professional men and women."

This paring down process is contrary to all ideas of right and justice. I venture to say that not one teacher now in the employ of Newton is overpaid; on the contrary they are all much underpaid, so much so that even a small advance of even $25 a year, looks a great temptation to them, and I have known teachers to leave even with tears, because the difference in money was so very real to them. Besides this, in all my acquaintance with the teachers here, for nearly twenty years, I have seldom found one who was free to live where she would, or to spend her money for herself, there was always a feeble sister, an invalid mother, an orphan niece or some one, whom the faithful woman was supporting, either by living with them or caring for them in some way, and her small salary was thus doing double duty.

Not long ago, in a neighboring town, a minister came to settle with his wife and two children. The wife was an invalid, the children half grown, but the minister was a devout, earnest man, a good preacher, and the church proposed to pay him $500 a year and house rent. Along the last part of the year when times were very hard with the poor minister, a friendly doctor came to him and said "Now, there are some people here in town who know you don't have what you ought to have, and they want to help you. They don't do it for your church, they are not church people, but they don't want you and your family to suffer. Will you make out a list of the things you really need?"

The minister and his wife prayed over the matter a great deal, and finally decided that it was sent from Heaven, so they made out their list: 1 barrel of flour, 1 bushel potatoes etc, only putting down what was actually needed.

In a few days came two loads of things, and for everything which had been put down one, there were two, and many things besides, and it was a happy and wonderful time. Now, nearly lived a member of this same church and he watched these proceedings with much interest but not a word was said. But when they came to settle up at the end of the year this man estimated that the value of those goods must have been worth as much as $75 and $75 was deducted from the minister's salary.

There is a Judge in Heaven who sees these wicked deeds. He knows how shabbily our teachers are treated and it is just as bad for a city to do these things as it is for a church, and just as bad for a church as for an individual.

The system of supervisors, in a place of the size of Newton, is all out of order, and a supervisor in a kindergarten is an absurdity, as much out of place as she would be in a private family. The only supervision the kindergarten needs is an encouraging appreciative word from the Superintendent and a "let me know when you want anything" from the Head Master.

Instead of making any new salaries offices, and cheese paring in such petty ways, it would be much better to first inquire why we pay such a high salary to our Superintendent, when Mr. Aldrich, the best man we ever had, was long the faithful servant of the city for $2500 per annum. The course of study in use today was arranged by Mr. Aldrich and for all the fine men we have had since, representing both Orient and Occident no one has thought it worth while to try to improve upon it. A little time spent in this way might be well invested as no course of study should remain stationary in this age.

I read of a teacher in Buffalo who has retired with a pension of $700. I read of fairs for "Teachers' Insurance Funds" in other cities, and I blush to read what is proposed for the teachers in my own city of Newton.

High School Notes.

The officers in the class of 1905 for this year are, president P. C. Johnson; vice president Miss Loveland; treasurer A. Schofield; secretary Miss Hatfield.

The works of Dr. Edward Everett Hale in ten volumes were among those purchased with the money derived from Dr. Hale's recent lecture in the High School.

Mr. Andrew J. George, head master in English, has received a number of the late Senator Hoar's speeches, which the Senator had laid aside for him.

Literary Notes.

The December Delineator, with its message of good cheer and helpfulness, will be welcomed in every home. The fashion pages are unusually attractive, illustrating and describing the very latest modes in a way to make their construction during the busy festive season a pleasure instead of a task, and the literary and pictorial features are of rare excellence. A selection of Love Songs from the Wagner Operas, rendered into English by Richard le Gallienne and beautifully illustrated in colors by J. C. Leyendecker, occupies a prominent place, and a chapter in the Composers' Series, relating the Romance of Wagner and Cosima, is an interesting supplement to the lyrics. A very clever paper entitled "The Court Circles of the Republic," describes some unique phases of Washington social life from an unnamed contributor, who is said to write from the inner circles of society. There are short stories from the pens of F. Hopkinson Smith, Robert Grant, Alice Brown, Mary Stewart Cutting and Elmore Elliott Peake, and such interesting writers as Julia Magruder, L. Frank Baum, and Grace MacGowan Cooke hold the attention of the children. Many Christmas suggestions are given in needlework and the Cookery pages are replete with the Christmas feast. In addition, there are regular departments of the mayors, with many special articles on topics relating to woman's interests within and without the home.

REMOVAL.

Mr. Walter C. C. Mandell wishes to announce that he has removed to 1117-1121 Old South Building, Boston, where he is engaged in the general practice of the law.

At the Theatres

Coming Attractions

Park Theatre—Direct from his notable artistic triumph at the Lyric Theatre, New York, Otis Skinner will appear at the Park Theatre for two weeks beginning Nov. 21 in his unique new footlight creation, that of the title role of "The Harvester." This scholarly and graceful portrayal of poetic and romantic roles seems, to judge from all the praise he has received during the highly successful run of the play in the metropolis, to have the best role of his stage career in this latest characterization of its gipsy-spirited hero. The Harvester is a happy-go-lucky wanderer, or roamer, from harvest field to harvest field in picturesque French Canada, and symbolizes the wander-spirit which is instinct in the universal breast of humanity. In this sense, the part is full of the highest poesy and romance. But the Harvester has a love episode with Toinette, a pretty farm lass, and its serious consequences, beginning with his flight to the highway again and concluding with his return and redemption of his folly, give rise to a number of effective and affecting dramatic situations, said to be full of heart-interest and human appeal. And all the scenes have a French Canadian setting that is a decided novelty in itself. Its beautiful stage pictures, the realism of the reapers in the harvest fields, love scenes in the peasant cottage, the village tavern with its merry carousers and the jolly dance before the Inn, the blossoming orchard of the lord of the domain, the rich Seigneur, and the Christmas eve celebration in the last act, with its wintry contrast to the Autumn splendor that goes before.

Columbia Music Hall, Boston—Again has the Columbia Music Hall demonstrated the success of its new policy. This week an original musical farce, "Tiddie-Dee-Winks," forms the principal part of the entertainment and, as a vehicle for fun making, is the best yet presented at this house. The production is unusually elaborate: the scenery is new and fresh and the costumes sumptuous. The scene is laid on shipboard on a Pacific liner, and there are all the attendant attractions that such locale indicates. There is a beautiful stage effect in an aerial butterfly ballet and a song of nations called "Uncle Sam's Children" is very cleverly put together. There is a matinee every day. Next week the musical farce will be Weber-Fields, "Poussé Cafe."

Keith's Theatre—Miss Mable McKinley, the favorite niece of the late Pres. McKinley, will be the "headliner" of the Keith vaudeville program for the week of Nov. 21. Miss McKinley is a pleasing soprano vocalist and her repertoire is largely made up of songs written by herself. The surrounding show includes Thos. J. Ryan and Mary Richfield, in their latest comedy success, "Mike Hagerty's Daughter;" George W. Day, one of the cleverest blackface comedians and parody singers in the varieties; Eddie Gerard and Jessie Gardner, in their singing, dancing and comedy specialties; "Dooley and the Diamond;" Harper, Desmond and Bailey, lively "real coon" singers and dancers; Mr. and Mrs. Allison, in their great character comedy and singing sketch "Minnie from Minnesota;" and Carlo's dogs, an act that will be attractive for the children. There will be the customary interludes of juggling, acrobatic and dancing specialties, and an entire new list of motion pictures in the Biograph.

Tremont Theatre—Every man born in America is immensely indebted from the start to those who have fought and worked for what we call civilization. No man begins life without an inheritance, every man starts with a great capital of opportunity. But what of woman? Opportunity and fortune are denied her in almost every art and science. Is it any wonder, then, that when a woman born genius comes before us that we accept her willingly and at once offer tribute? Great actors have been many, but great actresses, or better say artists, are few, almost none. Miss Henrietta Crossman, a woman-lady born—not of a family of great actors, not born in the wings, to use theatrical parlance, not sent to dramatic school, where personality is sacrificed to elocution, but born into society in the highest sense of the word. Miss Crossman's personality could not be hidden—character and temperament would out. She decided upon the stage as a career. Her slogan was study and work. For years she labored with but two instructors—art and nature. Today she no longer is termed an actress, but an artist—the greatest comedienne on the American stage. Miss Crossman will appear only two more weeks in the Tremont in "Sweet Kitty Bellairs." A matinee will be given on Thanksgiving Day.

Globe Theatre—The Globe offering next week will be one that promises much in the way of entertainment. Mr. Billy B. Van and a company of sixty people in a musical farce entitled "The Errand Boy" have been secured as the Thanksgiving attraction. Mr. Van as an exponent of the "tough boy" has no equal, and judging from the wonderful success of his creations in vaudeville, surrounded as he is now by a large company of comedians and singers and having a vehicle that is eminently suited to him there is little chance to speculate as to how brilliant a success he will make in the new play. A special matinee will be given on Thursday, Thanksgiving Day and the usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees will also be given.

Boston Music Hall—One of the most meritorious, evenly balanced and variegated vaudeville programs ever seen in Boston will be presented at Boston Music Hall the week beginning Nov. 21. Those who enjoy legitimate comedy will find in the sketch offered by Mary Sanders, a tid-bit of the most appetizing and satisfying kind. The title is "On a String" and the comedy is said to possess laughter-making qualities galore. The biggest feature of the Barnum and Bailey circus last season was Helene Gerard the beautiful French equestrienne and her magnificent thoroughbred stallions "Maestro" and "Leopard." Anton Hegner cello soloist of the Boston Symphony Orchestra will present a program which cannot but prove a delightful innovation to vaudeville patrons who enjoy real music. Smith and Campbell, better known as "The Original Sidewalk Conversationalists," will give an entirely new line of jokes and jests. Another great laughter act is offered by Lew Bloom and Jane Cooper. The sketch called "A Happy Medium" is offered by Clayton Kennedy and Mattie Rooney. The Welch-Montrose troupe of comedy acrobats will do some surprising stunts and cut up funny capers while the Ritchie Duo have a sensational comedy bicycle act. There will be new pictures on the kinetograph.

Grand Opera House—The Thanksgiving week attraction at the Boston Grand Opera House will be the most startling and thrillingly sensational melodrama ever constructed and one that has attracted more comment than any ten melodramas ever before produced. This is A. H. Woods' gorgeous production of the new four act play, "Dealers in White Women." The usual matinees will be given on Tuesday, Thursday, Thanksgiving Day and Saturday.

Majestic Theatre—Miss Ada Rehan has been delighting theatre-goers at the Majestic theatre the past week with her matchless interpretation of Katherine in the Shubert production of Shakespeare's "The Taming of the Shrew" and with her incomparable portrayal of Lady Teazle in Sheridan's "The School for Scandal." The audiences have been large and enthusiastic, paying high tribute to this genius who has no rival as the leading comedienne of the American stage. For her second and last week Miss Rehan has chosen the "The Country Girl," Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights, "The Taming of the Shrew," Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights and at the Thanksgiving matinee, and "The School for Scandal" at the Saturday matinee.

A passer by the house of John McLean, 270 Derby street, West Newton about 9:20 o'clock Sunday morning heard cries of "Murder" and promptly notified Police headquarters.

Chief Tarbox and Officer Neagle hurried to the place and after knocking in the door found McLean in his kitchen drunk. Mrs. McLean a woman about 65 years of age was discovered in an upstairs room almost insensible from a terrific beating which she had received from her husband. Her head and shoulders were badly beaten and cut and she was removed to the hospital. McLean was taken to the lock-up and the next morning was given 6 months in the house of Correction for assault and one month for drunkenness.

PENN INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

Dear Editor:

All of your readers are more or less intimately acquainted with the work done at the Hampton and Tuskegee Institutes but how many know anything about the Penn School which antedates either of them by quite a good many years? The Penn Institution was founded more than forty years ago, at St Helena Island off the coast of South Carolina, by two ladies of Philadelphia Miss Town and Miss Murray, who, with the help of their Northern friends maintained the school until the death of Miss Town in 1901. Since Miss Town's death, the school has been incorporated under the laws of South Carolina and is now managed by a board of trustees, of which Dr. F. Russell, Superintendent of Hampton Institute, is Chairman. At the first, and mainly until Miss Town's death, the school essayed to do but little beside teaching the rudiments of education, with incidentally some instruction in sewing and house-keeping, but the experience of the other institutes has shown that industrial training is absolutely needed in order to properly educate the negro, and now that branch is to be made prominent. Last spring two of Hampton's valued teachers were selected to go to St Helena as supervisors and advanced teachers, Miss Cora Frances Butler, well known to many people in Newton, as she was a graduate of Newton High School, and Miss Rosa Cooley. These ladies were in the North the past summer, hard at work, getting ready for the opening of the school, under the new auspices in October. They arrived on the island early in October, in less than three weeks Miss Butler was taken sick and in spite of all that could be done for her recovery died, after an illness of but a week. By her death the school has met with a great loss, as she was by her character, attainments, and enthusiasm for her chosen work, wonderfully adapted to assist in the work of bringing Penn School up to a state of high efficiency. The Penn School has peculiar advantages over almost any place in the South, to more easily than almost any other place, do a grand work. St Helena Island is 25 miles long, and has a population of 7000 colored and but about 50 white inhabitants. The white people before the war, were well to do planters who left their plantations very soon after hostilities began and fled to the mainland, after which the U. S. Government sold the land at a tax sale in farms of 10 acres to the colored people on the island and that is one great reason why they are so favorably situated for a work of this kind. Those who bought the land of the Government, or their descendants are still owners of the land, they have not in the past farmed their land scientifically or advantageously owing to lack of knowledge, and that is just what the Penn School is to teach them. When they can have, as an object lesson, instead of 1-2 a bale of cotton to an acre, fields adjoining producing from 1 to 2 bales, they will not be long in learning the reason of it and not only in farming is instruction to be given, but in the different trades as well. At present if any repairing in wood, iron or leather is needed it has to be done in Beaufort. What a wonderful field there is for all kinds of labor, when the people shall have been rightly instructed. Already there has been a marked improvement in their dwellings, many of them being quite attractive in appearance in place of the tumble-down, one room cabins, without glass windows, and a plastered cob house chimney on the outside of the hut. The public schools are very largely taught by Penn graduates, who are also teachers on the main land. Miss Butler had an engagement to speak before the Newton Educational Club, some time this present month and also before a meeting at the Central Congregational Church in Boston, when several Boston clergymen are to speak on the Southern question and she was to present the claims of the Penn School, but her engagements are now heavenly ones, and others will have to do the work she had set for herself to do. The school is in pressing need of money and where can money be seemingly better applied than in this case, with results that cannot help being great. The education of the Negro must be of the mind, heart and hand as well. Education is the panacea for the Negro at the South, and the best people North and South are alive to the fact. Mrs. Richard Rowe, President of the Newton Educational Club, will gladly receive any monies that the philanthropically inclined may send to her and forward the same to St Helena.

If you are discouraged and despondent and wish to die, it is not because everything is black before you. It is simply because your vitality is so low and you are so weak that you have not the courage to face a lifetime.

Eminent physicians have been attracted by similar cases and after making a careful and scientific study of their requirements have compounded a remedy called Vin-Tone, which builds up body and mind in a remarkably short time.

Vitality is what you need and vitality is what Vin-Tone gives.

We tell you of this preparation because it may find its way into every home where man, woman or child is suffering from lack of energy.

Vin-Tone can be procured at a very trivial expense and will build up your system as it has thousands of others.

Sold on a positive guarantee.

Assortment the Largest,
Prices the Lowest for Quality Offered.

Our bargains are made by marking down our own stock to a low price, not by purchasing inferior goods to make an attractive price.

It is a mistake to infer that we carry only high-priced fabrics. We have medium grades as well, and our prices are low because our expenses are proportioned over a volume of business exceeded by few in our specialty in the United States, and equaled by none in New England.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

Annual Budget Passed With Little Debate.

Mayor Sends in Important Communications—Overseers of Poor to be Abolished.

The board met in regular session on Monday evening. President Saltonstall calling to order at 7:45.

Present: Aldermen Baker, Barber, Bishop, Brown, Cabot, Carter, Day, Dennison, Ellis, Hunt, Johnson, Riley, Webster, Weston and White.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM MAYOR.

Relative to insurance upon the public library and contents, with reference to advisability of continuance and appropriation for same. Referred to Committee on Public Works.

Relative to instructing Registrars of Voters as to reporting number of voters for possible new arrangement of ward lines. Referred to Committee on Rules, etc.

Relative to legislation to allow distribution of poor relief by a City Almoner. Referred to Committee on Rules, etc.

PETITIONS.

Of the N. E. Tel. and Tel. Co. to attach to poles of the N. and W. Gas Light Co. on Elliot st. Referred to Committee on Public Franchises etc, and hearing ordered for Dec. 1 at 7:15 p. m.

Of D. C. Heath et al, Executive Committee on Newton Education Association for $2500 appropriation for daily medical inspection of schools. Referred to Committee on Finance.

COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Committee on Finance relative to estimated receipts and expenditures for 1905. Received.

FROM CITY OFFICERS.

Report of the City Solicitor on order establishing method of distributing income of Kenrick Fund was laid on the table upon request of Alderman Weston, as Alderman Ensign was absent.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS.

The order revoking location of Newton and Boston street railway Co. on Homer street was continued on the table on account of the absence of Alderman Ensign, at the request of Alderman Weston.

ORDERS.

The order appropriating $1,181,117.65 for city expenses during 1905 was presented and a suggestion that the board go into the committee of the whole for its consideration.

Alderman Webster. This is the third time I have been present when the annual budget has been considered and not one item heretofore has been changed as presented by the committee. The mayor has given this matter a very large amount of time, and the Finance Committee has also given at least two evenings to its consideration. We are asked to pass on this order with but an hour or two for consideration. It is nothing but a farce. Why should we make an appearance of doing something, when we really do nothing. I move that the board approve the order as recommended by the Committee on Finance.

Alderman Weston. As a new member of this board I hope the order will be considered in the committee of the whole as I desire information.

The motion of Alderman Webster was then defeated, and the board went into the committee of the whole, the Vice President, Alderman Carter in the chair.

In committee of the whole, the order was considered in detail, each department being explained by Alderman Brown, acting chairman of the Committee on Finance.

The first discussion came over the recommendation of the Finance Committee increasing the estimate of the mayor from $1500 to $1700 for contagious diseases, Health Department. The increase was favored by Aldermen Saltonstall, Day and Ellis, as an initial appropriation to enable the board of health to make examinations of sputum for the diagnosis of tuberculosis, and opposed by Aldermen Webster and Barber. $1700 was finally adopted.

Another discussion followed over the appropriations for the school department. The item of $400 for the Nonantum Vacation Club provided the Social Science Club contributed an equal amount had been recommended by the committee although disapproved by the mayor. Aldermen Barber and Day favored the item, and Aldermen Webster and Johnson opposed it, but a motion to strike out the appropriation was defeated and the recommendation of the committee sustained.

The remaining items as recommended by the Finance Committee were approved, and the form of order as suggested by the mayor was adopted.

The committee rose at 10:06, and with President Saltonstall in the chair, the report of the Committee of the Whole was received. Orders appropriating $1,181,117.65 for city expenses in 1905, adopting $297,615. as the estimated receipts for 1905 and establishing the rate of interest on unpaid taxes were severally adopted, 16 yeas, 5 absent.

On request of Alderman Webster the Secretary of the School Committee was requested to inform the board as to the expenditures for special school furnishings.

At 10:15 o'clock the board adjourned.

Police Paragraphs.

A somewhat novel sentence was imposed by Judge Kennedy in the municipal court Saturday morning upon Walter Newcomb, a 14-year-old lad, who was complained of by patrolman Soule of division 2 for alleged stone throwing at the signal men employed on the Boston & Albany railroad.

The boy pleaded guilty, and after lecturing him severely for the offence the court ordered the case continued on probation until Dec. 31. In addition the boy was told to find the man at whom he threw the stones and to apologize to him. "No matter where the man lives," concluded his honor, "you must find him and tell him that you are the boy who threw stones at him, and say you are sorry."

Newcomb agreed, but there was a doleful look on his countenance as he left the court room.

THE MT. IDA SCHOOL FOR GIRLS.

Professor George F. Jewett, principal of the Mount Ida School for Girls and Young Women has rented the house recently occupied by Mr. Fletcher Barber on Summit Avenue. This house is opposite the Mount Ida School and therefore is most conveniently situated for the purposes of the school.

The very phenomenal growth of this popular school has made this necessary. The school already has more pupils than it has at the present time room for.

Professor Jewett will furnish this house at once and will occupy it this week. Although the year has begun students continue to apply. Two pupils enter the school this week from California.

Professor Cooley of Auburndale gave on Tuesday an interesting lecture on "Life in Greece." The lecture is an interesting and instructive one. It is illustrated by some 100 very beautiful stereoscopic views.

Mr. H. B. Odell of New York, brother of governor Odell, who has a daughter at Mount Ida recently visited the school. Pupils are enrolled from nineteen different states and Canada.

There are in the school this year several students who are preparing for college. Mr. Jewett has had a large experience in preparing students for college and he purposes making the Mount Ida School one of the best preparatory schools in New England although a pupil may select a general course. English is the only prescribed study. Every pupil is expected to take English five times a week.

The Graphic congratulates Mr. Jewett upon the great success of the Mount Ida School.

DROWNING ACCIDENT.

Abraham Perlmutter and Abraham Fried two Newton boys were drowned about 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon while playing on the ice on Silver lake, off Watertown street in the Nonantum district. Since Saturday morning the boys of the neighborhood have been skating on the pond, though warned several times not to do so. Perlmutter and Fried, both 11 years old, ventured out on the ice and when 50 feet from shore broke through. An attempt to rescue them was unsuccessful. Their bodies were recovered half an hour later. Perlmutter lived at 378 Watertown street and Fried at 11 Cook street.

Among Women.

In the New Church parlors last week Tuesday afternoon a home meeting of the Newtonville Woman's Guild was held. Miss Alice Jordan of the Boston Public Library gave a lecture on "Reading Rooms for Children" and piano solos were rendered by Miss West. The contribution of the Needlework Guild was on exhibition and amounted to nearly 500 articles which will be distributed to the Associated Charities, Home for Aged People, Newton Hospital, Newton District Nursing Association and Pomroy Home. Later tea was served under the direction of the Charitable Committee, Mrs. M. A. Pigott chairwoman.

The regular meeting of the Newton Centre Woman's Club will be held Thursday in the Mason School hall. Prof. Thomas Fillebrown will speak on "Vocalism."

—Miss Georgia A. Bacon will speak on "The Merit System versus Politics" at the meeting of the West Newton Women's Educational Club this afternoon in the Unitarian Church parlors.

Clubs and Lodges.

Crystal Lake Court, Foresters of America, who have been holding their meetings in Circuit hall, Newton Centre have moved to Morse's building, Newtonville.

A home meeting of Riverdale Lodge, N. E. O. P., was held last Monday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Barker on Grove street. The lodge is planning for an anniversary dinner in December.

Caleb Stark Chapter, Junior Sons and Daughters of the Revolution, held its last meeting at the home of the president, Warren Cram Agry, on Park street. After the business session games and music were enjoyed.

A social whist under the auspices of Waban Lodge I. O. O. F., was held in Dennison Hall, last week Wednesday evening. Play was at 35 tables and the souveniers were awarded to Mrs. B. F. Barlow, Miss Heald, Mrs. T. C. Clay, John Bellamy, Charles McLeod and W. H. Crouse.

The new clubhouse of the Brae-Burn Country Club of West Newton will not be ready for occupancy until about New Year's, but the men's locker room is now completed and John Showler will assign lockers to all who have not previously had them. The old house has been moved near the pond, and as it is about to be altered into a cottage, members having lockers therein should remove their property to the new house. Arrangements are being made for a toboggan slide, the pond has been greatly enlarged for skating, hockey and curling, arc lights are being installed for lighting the pond and everything prepared for a busy winter season.

DEATH OF MRS. SHINN.

Mrs. Elizabeth Mills Shinn, wife of Rev. Dr. George Wolfe Shinn, died suddenly at her home on Eldredge street early Sunday morning. She was the daughter of the late John Mills and was born in Philadelphia 66 years ago. She was married to Dr. Shinn while living in that city and came with him to Newton when he was called to Grace church. During his pastorate she had been particularly active in missionary work and was president of the Ladies' Missionary Society of the parish, a meeting of which she presided last Thursday afternoon. She was taken ill the same night but it was thought to be nothing serious. Her condition became critical Saturday night and at four o'clock Sunday morning a physician was called but before his arrival she was dead. Mrs. Shinn was a woman of rare talent, possessing a broad and intellectual mind, a lovable disposition and kindly nature, and despite her age was an active worker in the parish. Beside her husband she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. J. Lewis of Hough of Williamsport, Pa. and Mrs. George C. Stevens of Summit, N. J., and one son, Mr. Francis Adin Shinn, a teacher in the Choate School in Connecticut.

The funeral which was held from Grace church Tuesday afternoon was impressive in its simplicity in keeping with the life of the deceased. The main auditorium was filled with an audience comprising many members of the parish, the clergy and the Missionary Society which was seated in a body. Rev. Robert Keating Smith, assistant rector of the church, officiated, reading the Episcopal funeral service and the vested choir rendered "O, Paradise" as a processional, "I Heard a Sound of Voices" and "O What the Joy and Glory Must Be" as a recessional. The pall bearers, most of them being members of the vestry, were Messrs George B. Bullens, J. W. Shapleigh, S. Welles Holmes, Edward H. Cutler, Charles W. Emerson, Charles E. Riley, Edward A. Phippen, John H. Sellman, William M. Bullivant and Welles B. Holmes. The interment was in the family lot in St. Mary's Churchyard, Newton Lower Falls where the committal service was read by Rev. Mr. Smith.

THE SUPERINTENDENT'S SUGGESTIONS

To the Graphic:

In each of the two last issues of your paper there have appeared communications criticizing Mr. Spaulding's suggestions to the School Board on the question of teachers' salaries. The writers must have read the Superintendent's report very hastily for they have misconceived the spirit and purport of what he said. The arguments they set up are based on false premises and do not call for an answer on the lines which they have laid out.

The teachers of Newton are now permanently elected and cannot be discharged except for cause. Neither Mr. Spaulding, nor any member of the School Board, proposes to remove any teacher or teachers in order to employ others at a less salary.

Newton pays a very large sum for educational purposes. The Board of Aldermen provides the money and very seldom refuses anything to the School Board, since they know that the expenses for the School Department are carefully watched and guarded. The tax rate of Newton is growing very fast and all departments have been asked to retrench if this can be done without sacrificing important interests. The Superintendent points the way to the use of money which will not impair the service and yet will give us as good results as we now obtain. His remarks bore altogether upon the employment of new teachers and had no reference whatever to changes in the present force.

In the past we have seldom employed a teacher without placing her salary at once at the maximum rate. We have been obliged to do this because we have always drawn our supply from the vicinity of Boston where salaries are very nearly on a level. The Superintendent suggests that there are good teachers in remote places, that can be obtained at a minimum salary and put in a position to grow to the maximum. What possible objection can there be to allowing him to see what he can do? Boston never starts a teacher at the maximum. We have just lost to Boston a teacher to whom we paid $2000. He goes to that city at the minimum salary $1500, and it will take him seven years to grow to a salary which Newton would have been glad to pay him. Within the last year Newton has lost three Grammar School masters who drew $2000 each. All three places have been filled by able teachers to whom we pay $1600 each. They will all be allowed to grow to the maximum, $2000. If we can do this in three cases, why not in others?

It is the height of folly to think that the Superintendent or the School Board will allow the schools to suffer in efficiency. The standard of excellence which has been maintained in the past will not be lowered. Mr. Spaulding comes to us with an excellent reputation. He has proved his worth in another city where he secured most admirable results under very disadvantageous circumstances. Wouldn't it be just as well if the laymen would let him act under the dictates of a long experience, and admit for a moment that perhaps he knows his business better than they?

"A supervisor in a kindergarten is an absurdity," says your correspondent of last week. Why then does Boston have a supervisor? Miss Thompson has shown by her work as supervisor and by the results she has obtained that a supervisor is a very good thing to have. In her brief year of work she has unified the system, given encouragement to the teachers, saved as much money to the city as we paid her for supervising, and brought the schools to a level they had not before attained. Miss Thompson is in charge of a kindergarten and devotes but two days a week to supervision for which she is paid but $175 a year. The absurdity in this case is not with the Superintendent nor with the Board.

It would have been better if your correspondent had omitted his reference to the Superintendent's salary and to former Superintendents. Such things discount a man's opinion in other points and call for no answer. The School Board has confidence in the good judgment of its Superintendent and they believe he will do a good work for our schools.

A Member of the School Board.

The Education Committee of the Twentieth Century Club opens its eighth season of University Lectures with a most timely course on "Problems of the Far East," by Dr. Toyokichi Iyenaga of the University of Chicago.

Dr. Iyenaga speaks with authority gained from unusual experience in Asiatic countries, and his point of view and interesting delivery, offer a rare opportunity to those who are able to attend.

The course which follows by Prof. Bailey of Cornell, also editor of "Country Life in America," will appeal to all those interested in the study of nature and in the reaction from city life toward the country.

REMOVAL.

Mr. Walter C. C. Mandell wishes to announce that he has removed to 1117-1121 Old South Building, Boston, where he is engaged in the general practice of the law.

Y. M. C. A.

The annual reception of the Newton Y. M. C. A. took place in the Association rooms Thursday evening of last week. The affair, which was attended by about 200 members and their friends, took the form of a reception to General Secretary and Mrs. H. W. Bascom. From 8 to 9 o'clock they received in the parlors assisted by President S. M. Sayford and Mrs. Sayford, Mrs. Moses Clark, acting president of the Woman's Auxiliary and Mr. Clark. Messrs. E. O. Childs, Jr., E. L. Bacon and W. C. Whitney, of the reception committee acted as ushers. The rooms were tastefully decorated with potted plants and during the evening selections were rendered by Owen's Orchestra. In the gymnasium an interesting entertainment was given consisting of barrel boxing, basket ball, relay races, potato race, blindman's buff and other events. Later refreshments were served by the members of the Woman's Auxiliary.

NEWTON CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR UNION

The fall meeting of the Newton Christian Endeavor Union was held on Tuesday evening, November 15, the First Church in Newton, at Newton Centre. About one hundred and fifty young people gathered in the chapel of the beautiful new church recently dedicated, and the meeting opened with singing. President George H. Stevens then introduced Dr. Smart of Newton Highlands who led the devotional service. Miss Harding, of the Eliot society sang two solos very acceptably. The District Secretary, Mr. Frank Atkinson of Natick, with whom many of the young people have a very pleasant acquaintance was present and gave a few words of greeting. Rev. Franklin S. Hatch, well known to Christian Endeavorers as a former state president and for three years in charge of Christian Endeavor work in India gave a most interesting and inspiring address in regard to the work and conditions in that far away land.

At the close of the formal program, the company was invited to remain for a social hour and to inspect the new church, all parts of which were then opened and lighted.

AUBURNDALE PASTOR RESIGNS.

Rev. Charles M. Southgate, who for the past nine years has been pastor of the Hancock Street Congregational Church, in Auburndale, read his resignation from the pulpit at the conclusion of Sunday's service. The announcement was a surprise to many in the congregation. It is said that there has been dissatisfaction and division among the members of the church, but Rev. Mr. Southgate made light of any such trouble when asked about his resignation. He came to Auburndale from the Pilgrim Congregational Church in Worcester. He asked that his resignation take effect Jan. 1, 1905.

At the Churches.

The Woman's Missionary Societies of the Newton Methodist church held a meeting at the home of Mrs. Charles Lawrence on Newtonville avenue last Monday evening. The debate was led by Mrs. J. W. Barber and Miss Clara M. Cushman.

A vested choir has been organized and sang at the Methodist church, Auburndale, last Sunday. Mr. Spaulding is the leader.

A postponed meeting of the Woman's Guild will be held at St. John's church, Newtonville, next Wednesday. The Guild has voted to undertake the care of providing clothing for a pupil at St. Mary's Church, Seawater, Tenn.

The members of the Sunday School of Central church, Newtonville, have been packing a barrel this week to send to the Cotton Valley School in Alabama.

Votes and Klazes.

In the letters of William Cooper, the poet, is an interesting description of some old fashioned political campaign tactics in England: "We were sitting yesterday after dinner, the two ladies and myself, very comfortably and without the least apprehension of any such intrusion in our snug parlor, one lady knitting, the other nothing, and the gentlemen whiling worsted, when to our unspeakable surprise a mob appeared before the window, a smart rap was heard at the door, the boys huddled and the maid announced Mr. Grenville. Puss—one of the tame hares—was unfortunately let out of her box, so that the candidate, with all his good friends at his heels, was refused admittance at the grand entry and referred to the back door as the only possible way of approach. In a minute the yard, the kitchen and the parlor were filled. Mr. Grenville, advancing toward me, shook me by the hand with a degree of cordiality that was extremely seducing. When the conference ended, Mr. Grenville squeezed my hand again, kissed the ladies and withdrew. He kissed likewise the maid in the kitchen and seemed upon the whole a most loving, kissing, kind hearted gentleman."

Likes a "Snappy" Clerk.

"That new salesman," remarked a doorwalker in a Broadway haberdashery's store to the proprietor, "seems to be an inquisitive sort of fellow. When business is slack he noses about, looking at everything on the shelves, examining tags and peeping into boxes that are not strictly in his department. I think I'll speak to him."

"You will please do nothing of the sort," answered the proprietor. "Clerks who 'nose' about, as you express it, instead of posing by the door, are the young men we know exactly what goods we have in stock and where to find them. They do not keep a customer waiting while they run to you or me and risk losing a sale. There is nothing about my stock that I don't want my clerks to know. I would rather they find out for themselves than go running to you for information."—New York Press.

A Courageous Soldier.

Admiral Wilson of the British navy won his Victoria cross at the battle of El Teb in 1884. There was a gap in the square, and five or six of the enemy made a vicious rush forward, attempting to get inside. Captain Wilson, who was present with the naval brigade, advanced to meet them alone, but his sword broke in the endeavor to cut one of the intruders down. Hereupon the officer, instead of heaving a hasty retreat, stood his ground and began bowling over the enemy with his fists. Either from the nature of the ground or, as the record puts it, "the surprising nature of his attack," Captain Wilson escaped with a few wounds and was rescued by the square closing up round him. Sir Redvers Buller described the act as the most courageous he ever witnessed.

The Human Neptune.

It is doubtful if there ever was a sturdier human Neptune than Captain Webb, whose memorable exploit in crossing the English channel will always be remembered. It was more ill luck—a fatal chance—which tossed him against a rock in the Whirlpool rapids of the Niagara river and ended his life. Lord Byron was a marvel in the water. He equaled the feat of Lendner in propelling himself across the Hellespont without aid or relief from any quarter, and before him beamed no beckoning signals, glances and smiles from an incomparably beautiful Hero. But even Byron never swam across the English channel. As the champion of the silver streak of sea Webb was the wonder of the ages.

Wire Fire Extinguishers.

In factories where inflammable materials are made small fires are very apt to break out, and unless their progress is at once stopped the results may be serious. In various factories the fire extinguisher consists of a mesh of very fine wires. Should a jar of varnish become ignited, a workman seizes the net, which is always kept ready at hand, and puts it over the vessel containing the burning liquid. The wires conduct off the heat so quickly that the flames have no time to spread and soon die out.

Churches on Bridges.

The custom of building churches on bridges was common a hundred years and more ago. Several of these quaint old buildings are still left in Europe. The chapel of Our Lady still stands on the bridge which spans the Don at Rotterdam. The little chapel was built in the fifteenth century and was restored about a hundred years ago. For several years, however, it has been used as a tobacco shop.

Described.

A parent was examining his young first grade hopeful in geography. "What is land with water all around it called?"

"An island."

"Then what is water with land all around it?"

After a pause, "A puddle."

A Mist.

A correspondent sends us an interesting natural history note. On opening his wardrobe the other day he found a moth in his dress coat. "The effect," he declares, was ludicrous, as the coat was, of course, much too big for the moth.—Punch.

In a Quandary.

Bessie—Oh, Mabel, I am in an awful dilemma! I've quarreled with Harry, and he wants me to send him ring back. Mabel—That is too bad. Bessie—That isn't the worst of it. I've forgotten which is his ring.

While the protest of Alderman Webster upon the superficial nature of the Idermanic consideration of the annual appropriation order carrying a total of nearly a million and a quarter dollars appears to be justified by the time given the matter, it must be allowed that the minute examination given each item by the mayor and the finance committee have considerable weight with the other members of the board.

At the same time, it is a fact that matters are passed upon by the aldermen, in many instances, without that thorough knowledge of all the details, which is expected of intelligent men. There is too much willingness to follow the lead of a committee and not enough willingness to give individual investigation to important matters.

This is a general characterization and does not apply more particularly to the annual budget than to other matters. It is most noticeable however when the budget is considered as that should be the most important of the year, affecting as it does, the tax levy for the succeeding year. While it testifies to the implicit confidence in which the Mayor and Finance Committee are held, does it not also, indicate a laissez faire method of transacting business, to which attention is rightfully called?

The proposition from the citizens of Newtonville to contribute $10000 towards the purchase for park purposes of some undesirable property in the heart of a residential section, is one which the city should gladly welcome. Other sections of the city have in times gone by, obtained from the municipality similar privileges by contributing but one half of the expense. Newtonville, with two thirds of the cost in hand, can therefore confidently appeal to unbroken precedents in this direction, and with the consequent enhancement of values to adjoining property, it would seem a good investment for the city as well.

Mr. Lawson's extravagant comments on the acts of the Massachusetts legislature of 1896 have aroused considerable interest in the personnel of that body. Newton was represented that year by the late J. Edward Hollis and by the Hon. Albert L. Harwood. The names of these gentlemen are sufficient in this city to show the bombastic nature of the Lawson article.

The passage of the annual budget of considerably over a million dollars, with but the slight increase of $1600 over the estimates of the mayor indicates that our chief executive has, in the opinion of the Finance committee and the board of aldermen, given the most careful consideration to the use of the city for the coming year. It is fair to assume that the mayor has given due heed to our high tax rate and only recommended what was absolutely needed for the maintenance of our valuable municipal plant. This is only one instance of the careful work which has been done all through the present year by Mayor Weed and while there has not been much publicity given the routine work of the present executive, it is but fair to say that the supervision of the civic administration has never been so thorough and systematic as at present.

Our friends of the Newton Education Association again come to the front with their annual demand for daily medical inspection of schools at an expense of $2500. While we sympathize with the Association in the results to be obtained, we decidedly oppose the proposed method to be adopted in the expenditure of this money. With careful medical inspection we agree, but when it is proposed to have the teacher act primarily as an inspector, the medical expert examining only such children as the teacher suggests, the money is worse than wasted.

It would seem from the time that has elapsed since the matter was first broached, and with the unanimity of sentiment from Newton Centre behind it, that even the board of aldermen might have reached a conclusion upon the matter of removing the car tracks from Homer street. A careful consideration shows that the so called "vested rights" of the few remonstrants, are based on nothing more substantial than sympathy, and that the best interests of the community will be served by the removal of the tracks.

THE POWDER WORKED.

An Invention That Proved Too Much of a Success.

A certain inventor gave hit upon the happy device of desiccating eggs. He turned dozens and dozens of eggs into a powder that you might carry in a pill box. All you had to do when you wanted an omelet or a scramble was to drop a pinch of the powder into water. A teaspoonful of the stuff would swell up to fill a quart tin, and half a cupful would be enough for the meal of a company on the march. Now, this inventor by diligent effort succeeded in making himself known to a great man in a European country, a man who moves armies by the crooking of a finger, so to speak. The great man was delighted with the desiccated egg scheme, and a box of the powder was sent to him so that he might try it on the army. Fate, however, decreed that it should be tried on the dog. It lay open on the great man's study table, and there the dog nosed it out. He licked up the powder, an amount of it that forty conscientious hens could not replace with a month's hard labor, and he liked the taste of it. It made him thirsty, however, and he swallowed nearly a gallon of water to assuage that thirst. The powder immediately began to do what it was expected to do when water struck it, and before the eyes of the great man that unhappy dog swelled up and swelled up till his seams gave way. Just forward of the port beam he sprang a leak. This is a perfectly true story. The poor dog actually burst. That particular invention has never been recommended to the war office.—Washington Post.

VULCANO'S VOLCANO.

A Natural Weather Prophet and Infallible at That.

As a natural weather prophet, and infallible at that, the volcano on the island of Vulcano, twelve miles north of Sicily, in the Mediterranean, is believed to hold the record. The following is from an account of a dinner given by the Geographical Council Club of England in 1893: "Captain Wharton, the hydrographer to the admiralty, told how he had once anchored in very deep water on the east side of Vulcano, the southernmost of the Lipari Isles, but that he had kept up steam with the intention of being off immediately if the wind changed to the east. He mentioned this to an Englishman who lived on the island and was in charge of some borax works. 'But,' said the man, 'there is not the remotest chance of the wind going around to the east without full warning.' 'What warning?' asked the other. 'Oh,' was the rejoinder, 'the volcano always warns us.' 'The volcano,' said Wharton, 'Yes, the volcano. A "fumarone" always emits a whistling sound before the east wind begins to blow.' Shortly after this Wharton was looking at Strabo and, to his astonishment, found that that writer mentions the fact. The Englishman had never heard of Strabo in his life. Strabo died as an old man about 25 A. D., so that this excellent "fumarone" must have been giving its warnings well nigh 2,000 years at least."

Gray Cues Hard to Find.

"Look around during your next exploration of Chinatown," says a close observer, "and see if you can find any Chinaman with a gray cue. I have seen gray haired Chinamen all right and one or two with fuzz on their faces which might by courtesy be called beards, but a gray cue never. A good deal of the average cue is all make believe anyway, several inches of the end of it being composed of black braid.

"I have always suspected that there was more or less false hair about it, too; but that is of course a matter that cannot be determined by casual inspection. Such Chinamen as I have seen with gray hair have had black cues. It may be, however, that the ends of the cue, instead of being false, are dyed."—Philadelphia Record.

Southern Manchuria.

The St. James' Gazette says: "The rainy season in southern Manchuria is not so bad as it has been represented to be. Residents of long experience state that while there are days in which heavy falls of rain take place there are not many consecutive days in which torrential rains are experienced. When a really heavy downpour of rain of some hours' duration occurs it is almost invariably followed by three or four weeks of splendid, dry, bracing weather. There is no finer summer climate in the world than that of southern Manchuria. The temperature in the shade is seldom above 88 degrees."

His Hander.

"Yes; she and her husband have quarreled. It seems he told her she was just too sweet for anything since their marriage."

"Well?"

"Well, she was insulted, of course. 'Was as much as to say she wasn't just too sweet for anything' always."

—Exchange.

Easing the Problem.

"Diddle, when you divided those five caramels with your little sister did you give her three?"

"No, ma, I thought they wouldn't come out even, so I ate one 'fore I began to divide!"—New Yorker.

Male Point Settled.

"They have called two doctors in for consultation."

"And do the doctors agree?"

"I believe they have agreed upon the price."

If you neglect your business and have a rival who attends to his, look out.—Aitchison Globe.

FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY.

Rev. Dr. Henry Johnson Patrick celebrated the 50th anniversary of his entering the ministry last Sunday by occupying the pulpit of his first pastorate in Bedford, Mass. In close connection with the interesting event was his address last Monday morning before the Congregational Ministers at Pilgrim Hall, Boston. His topic was, "Half Century Lessons in the Ministry." He talked of his long experiences and of the perplexities of a minister and declared that the life of the clergy, while taken seriously, should be passed in a cheerful and tranquil frame of mind. The first lesson he had learned during his experience was gratitude for life and health his only infirmity being partial blindness. He said he was the only survivor of the council that ordained him and of the 2600 sabbaths that have passed during this 50 years he has been unable to preach but twice. In closing he declared that the ministry will introduce a man to the best companionship and society in the world and invited one to the best service, for its distinctive object is to make men better. There should be fraternity with other denominations which are working in the true spirit of Christ and especially with the grand work which is being accomplished by the Salvation Army along the line of religion and humanity.

Dr. Patrick was born in Warren, Mass. Sept. 20th 1827, his parents being Joseph H. and Mary Patrick. He was educated at Amherst academy, Amherst College, graduating in 1848. His studies were continued in the Union Theological Seminary, New York, and the Andover Theological Seminary at Andover where he graduated in 1853. He was ordained to the ministry and installed as pastor of the Congregational church at Bedford Nov. 16th, 1854 and during his pastorate he represented the town in the General Court in 1857. In 1860 he accepted a call to the Second Congregational church at West Newton and after a long and honorable career, owing to failing eyesight, he gave up his active labors in 1894 and was chosen pastor emeritus. In 1865 Dr. Patrick was a delegate to the Christian Commission at City Point, Va., and in 1891 he received the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity from Amherst College.

The Dainty Ant.

Ants have no set time for laughing, but certain conditions plainly incite thereto, as when they feel particularly comfortable, as after eating or after awaking from or before going to sleep. The keen sense of discomfort aroused by the presence of dirt incites to cleansing. Often one may see an ant suddenly pause in the midst of the duties of field or fornicary and begin to comb herself. Here is a mountain mound maker driven by the passion of cleanliness to the utmost fervor of activity. Suddenly she drops out of the gang of yellow workers and, mounting a nearby clod, poses upon her hind legs and pokes teeth, tongue and comb. For a few moments the aim of being is centered upon that act. Around her colon of vantage sweeps to and fro the bustling host of builders with all their energies bent upon reconstructing their ruined city. She combs on unconcernedly. From top of head to tip of hind legs she goes, smoothing out ruffled hairs and removing atoms of soil invisible to human eyes. Her toilet is ended at last.—H. C. McCook in Harper's Magazine.

Green Cannibals.

Such fierce carnivorous fishes as exist in the depths of the ocean are unknown at the surface. There is a "black swallower" which devours other fish creatures ten times as big as itself, literally climbing over its victim, first with one jaw and then with the other. Another species is nearly all mouth, and having no power of locomotion it lies buried in the soft ooze at the bottom, its head alone protruding, ready to engulf any prey that may wander into its cavernous jaws. There is a ferocious kind of shark, resembling a huge eel. All of these monsters are black as ink. Some of them are perfectly blind, while others have enormous, goggling eyes. No ray of sunlight ever pierces the dark, unfathomed caves in which they dwell. Each species is gobbled by the species next bigger, for there is no vegetable life to feed on.—Spore Moments.

The Forests of the Amazon.

According to some astronomers the greenish patches on the planet Mars indicate woodland regions, and a scientist predicts that centuries after the rest of this earth has become as barren as the mountains of the moon Martian astronomers will still distinguish here bright green spots of considerable extent near the east coast of South America. The forests of the Amazon valley, he thinks, are practically extermination proof. An average of 1,000 rank trees, shrubs and creepers cover every acre of ground and a year's neglect is enough to obliterate all traces of the most thorough clearing. A film of spontaneous vegetation soon covers the deserted field, trees shoot up and the sylvan deities resume their ancient sway.

Hypnotic Influence.

An extraordinary story of the imposition of one will upon another was told before the psychological section of the British Medical association at Oxford. Dr. Eldridge Green said that he was talking with a patient on the subject of hypnotism. The patient, a lady of more than average force of character, said she defied any man to send her to sleep and make her do as he wished. "I told her it was not necessary to send her to sleep," said the doctor, "and added, 'You will wake at 5 o'clock tomorrow morning and will send me a post card despite your own wishes to say no.' I got that post card. It was somewhat to this effect: 'I have been trying not to write to you, but I did wake at 5.'"

Good Bread For Dyspeptics.

Pulled bread is served at several of the best restaurants, and it is not only palatable, but much better for people inclined to be fat or dyspeptic than ordinary bread. When kneading the bread for baking do it in such a way that the grain will be lengthwise of the loaf. When baked and before it is cold remove the crust, pull the loaf into halves and again into quarters lengthwise of the loaf. Keep dividing it until the bread is of the desired shape. It is usually in long pieces about two inches in circumference. Place the pieces on a rack, put in a pan and dry out the moisture in a slow oven and color a light brown.

Writing In The Sand.

It may be news to many persons that the use of sand for teaching children to write and form their letters is still practiced in some of the small schools in the rural districts of the north of England. Thousands of our forefathers learned to write and to make figures with a sharp pointed stick manipulated upon a smooth stretch of sand in an age when copy books were unaffordable and steel pens undreamed of.

A Kind Request.

Among a number of notes received by a teacher in excuse for the absence of children was the following: "Dear Teacher: Kindly excuse Minnie for having been absent yesterday, as she fell in the mud on her way to school. By doing the same you will oblige the mother."

Renewing Hostilities.

Mrs. Culler: I'm surprised that you recognized me. It has been more than five years since we met. Mrs. Naggles: I had almost forgotten your face, but I remembered that dress you have on.—Stray Stories.

Didn't Dispute It.

Mr. Stuyt: After all, society is a deuced hole, don't you know. Miss Wreny (yawning): Yes, some people's society.—Exchange.

Don't tell all you know, keep a little for a nest egg.—Schoolmaster.

The Charm of Victoria Falls.

How the Victoria falls impress a visitor is recorded in Miss C. W. Mackintosh's journal of a tour in South Africa. Miss Mackintosh says: "We perceived no hint of the falls, only seeing before us a screen of rocky bushes, bright green forest, apparently closing in the river, like a lake. Ten minutes' walk brought us to the camp, on a cliff which literally overhung the gorge, and we saw the cataract thundering down into the boiling pot at our feet. The walls of the chasm, 400 feet high, were spanned by a rainbow. The charm of these falls lies not in the one overwhelming crash as at Niagara, but in the cumulative effect of various glimpses, the matchless beauty of the surroundings and the strangeness of the whole setting, but chiefly in the columns of spray, called the 'thundering smoke' and in the ever changing rainbows. The mile wide river suddenly drops into a yawning crack in the ground, stretching right across the stream at right angles to the banks, a foaming trough, quite narrow, of which the walls rose 400 feet above the surface of the water."

Three Well Placed Rubles.

The method of introducing forbidden documents into the czar's country is described by Carl Joubert, author of "Russia as It Really Is." The purveyor of undesirable literature, having arrived on the frontier, at a point some distance from the railway, approaches the rittmaster and arranges matters with him. The rittmaster sees him and his cart load of books safely across the border and directs him to some small town near the frontier. Then the rittmaster raises the alarm and calls his men to horse, and they start off in pursuit of an imaginary smuggler in another direction, firing into the air to show their zeal in the discharge of their duties. "A ruble on either eye and ruble across the mouth," says Mr. Joubert, "will effectually prevent the Russian official from seeing or speaking."

How They Say Goodbye.

"When I left Manila," said a sailor, "a Filipino lady saw me off. Do you know how she said goodbye? Why, she rubbed my face with her hand. 'In Fiji they say goodbye by crossing two red feathers under your nose. 'The Burmese crouch down and shout 'Hib nill.' 'The south sea Islanders wear farewell necklaces when goodbys are to be said. These necklaces are made of whales' teeth. To say goodbye each islander rattles with his fingers the teeth of the other's necklace. 'The Sioux Indian digs his spear in the ground as a sign of farewell. 'In Otaheite they twist an end of your garment and then shake their own hands three times.'—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Swans For Food.

In this country swans are but little seen, except in public parks, but they are coming into increasing favor on private estates, as they give the finishing touch to an ornamental sheet of water. In England swans have been raised ever since the time of Richard the Lion Hearted for eating purposes. The largest swannery was maintained by Lord Rochester in Dorset, where from seven to twelve hundred birds were kept. In the early days all swans were raised at one place and brands issued to members of the nobility.—Country Life in America.

Lawyers and Newspapers.

It has been the joke of ages, and is the joke today, that lawyers and the newspaper men of the day are doing as much, at least, as people in other professions or trades in searching for facts and in making them public, and in so doing they are doing their part toward uprooting error and toward purifying the moral atmosphere.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Knew His Place.

"These cards is wore out," complained the old boss in Snug Harbor, "Why don't ye get a new deck? Ye kin buy a good one for a quarter." "We're only plain sailors," replied the gunner's mate, "so the quarter deck's too rich fur our blood."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Literary Notes.

Pearson's Magazine for December presents the unusually numerous collection of six special articles and eight sparkling pieces of fiction. "The American House of Lords," by David S. Barry, is the leading article, and tells of the perquisites and sinecures of United States Senators; as they are to convene on the first Monday of December, this paper is peculiarly timely. A sketch of the philanthropic career of the late Louis Fleischmann relates the history and the details of his world-famous Bread Line, one of the night sights of New York. Still another timely article is H. P. Burchell's "International Athletics," copiously illustrated with photographs. In his story, Mr. Birchell briefly recounts the results of this year's American sporting achievements in competition with England, Canada, Germany and France. The article embraces everything from the defeat of Emperor William's Meteor to the victories of Americans over English track teams and cricket teams, and German bowling teams. Mrs. Kate V. St. Maur tells, in her "Self-Supporting Home," how to make money out of ducks and pigeons. Henry T. Parker has an interesting article on Gabrielle Rejane, the famous French actress who is here on an American starring tour. And F.B. Stevenson describes the "Bloodless Revolution of China," the land of the Far East where all eyes are centered, watching the forging of history. Among the fiction numbers are two pretty love stories, three stories of adventure and the conclusion of Dr. Nicholas Stone, a detective story.

Rev. James Clement Sharp, assistant minister at Christ Episcopal Church, Springfield for the past seven years has received and accepted a unanimous call to become rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd in Waban. Mr. Sharp is thirty-five years old, a native of the neighboring town of Watertown, a graduate of Harvard in the class of 89, and of the Cambridge Theological School in the class of 1897.

IMPRESSING THE INDIANS.

Simon Fraser's Methods With the Untamed Redskins.

Even as late as the year 1805 there were Indians on the North American continent who had never seen or heard a gun, had never seen tobacco smoke and were capable of worshipping the white men who controlled these wonders. The Rev. A. G. Morice tells of some of the adventures of Simon Fraser, who has stamped his name on Canada. Father Morice writes as follows: "On landing at Lake Stuart Fraser's men, to impress the natives with a proper idea of their wonderful resources, fired a volley with their guns, whereupon the whole crowd of Indians fell prostrate to the ground. To allay their fears and make friends to tobacco was offered them, which, on being tasted, was found too bitter and thrown away. Then, to show its use, the crew lighted their pipes, and at the sight of smoke issuing from their mouths the people began to whisper that they must come from the land of ghosts, since they were still full of the fire wherewith they had been cremated. Pieces of soap were given to the women, who, taking them to be cakes of fat, set upon crunching them, causing foam and bubbles in the mouth, which puzzled both actors and bystanders. All these phenomena, however, were soon explained away, leaving profound admiration for the foreigners and their wares."

THE PACIFIC OCEAN.

How It Came to Be So Called by the Explorer Magellan.

Magellan, practically the first to circumnavigate the world, set out from Spain in 1519 to find a western route to the famous Moluccas, or Spice Islands. Vague rumors of a Pacific Ocean were scattered through Europe. To test these Magellan, following the coast of South America, passed through the strait which now bears his name, formerly the strait of the Eleven Thousand Virgins, tossed all the time on a most tempestuous sea.

Emerging into the broad waters on the west, he sailed northwest for three months and twenty days on a placid, almost unruffled sea, which he christened then and there Mar Pacifico, or Pacific Ocean, the name it will now forever bear. Notwithstanding its name typhoons in the west and elsewhere make this ocean as perilous a path as any other to those who tempt its vast expanse and comparative solitude.

Magellan himself fell in the Philippines, but the Victoria came home to tell the tale. Drake was the first Englishman to sail on its wide waters.—London Standard.

BOOKWORMS.

Not the Human Kind, but the Grubs
That Tunnel Volumes.

Blades, in his interesting volume, "The Enemies of Books," has shown that several very real bookworms are undesirable tenants of old libraries, and he has studied closely several specimens sent him and described their ravages.

Two grubs in particular richly deserve this name, the anobium, pertinax or eruditus and the oecophora. The anobium, a small, light colored, brown headed grub, with a body like thin ivory or transparent wax, bears a close resemblance to the white maggots of a Silken cheese. Working with a pair of strong jaws, like a steel bit, the grub begins at the wooden boards and if allowed will perforate the whole volume. The oecophora, similar to the anobium, except for the possession of six legs, is not unlike the so called deathwatch.

M. Pelgout asserts that he found twenty-seven volumes in one row pierced from end to end by a single worm tunnel. Mr. Blades doubts this, but has himself seen two volumes so treated, with no fewer than 212 distinct holes on one cover.

Garlick and the Bishop.

In the "Realities of Irish Life," by V. S. French, is this anecdote: "I have heard a story that upon one occasion the bishop of London asked the celebrated actor, Garlick, if he could explain how it was that he and his clergy failed to arrest the attention of their audiences, although they preached every Sunday of the realities of the world to come, while he (Garlick) filled crowded houses with the most rapt attention, although they knew perfectly well that all he was saying was fiction. The reason is very plain, my lord," replied Garlick. "You deal with facts as if they were fiction; I deal with fiction as if they were facts."

Convincing.

The late Wilhelm Jordan used to be very much annoyed because of the constant tearing up of the streets in Frankfurt. One day he said to one of the men at work, "Why are you digging up the pavement again?" "Because a new water pipe is to be put in." "But the old one was still quite good." "So was the old Nibelung Lied, yet you wrote a new one, Herr Doctor," retorted the laborer, with a laugh, in which Jordan joined.

Reason Enough.

"What! Marry my daughter?" snorted old Gotroch. "Why, you must be destitute of all reason!" "Yes," interrupted young Poorley, "but refreshing candor: I admit I am destitute, but that very fact is my reason."—Philadelphia Press.

Judicial Pronouncements.

"What kind of sentence did the judge give the weather man?" "Fair, followed by clearing; hard labor, changing to variable; bread and water toward evening; Sunday, soup."—Buffalo Express.

At the Theatres

Coming Attractions

Columbia Music Hall, Boston—A splendid and satisfying performance is being given this week at Columbia Music Hall. There is a complete change of bill from that of last week and on Monday a very strong company composed of people who have not before played at this house, began the presentation of the musical farce, "Pousse Cafe." This is by far the prettiest and most entertaining of any of the Weber and Fields comedies yet given. Again has the oleo been changed and an interesting

THE JUG DANCE IN FRONT OF THE VILLAGE INN.

3rd Act, Otis Skinner in "The Harvesters," at the Park Theatre.

new list of six acts is offered. There may have been no good athletes in their line as the Duffin-Redway Troupe, but if so it has never been the writer's good luck to see them. Another and a strongly contrasting act is Teddy Simonds and his competent company in a smart and amusing skit, "The Smart Dr. Smart"; then there follows Hoyt and Burke, two bright women change artists who can dance, and Gertie Reynolds in character dances; Cole and Warner, natural German comedians, and McIntyre and Primrose, good black face comedians. Underlined for next week is another Weber-Field "Hurly-Burly" skit, with another new company presenting it.

Grand Opera House—"The Great Automobile Mystery," the most sensational melodramatic production of the age, in fact, the most powerful play from the pen of the gifted author Theodore Kremer, will be seen at the Grand Opera House next week. The entire play, which is built on one of the most dramatic occurrences of recent date is full of pathos, thrills and heartrending scenes intermingled with rare bits of comedy. The piece is one thrill from start to finish and is attracting record breaking crowds wherever it is shown. The usual matinees will be given on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

Majestic Theatre—Charming, impetuous Dorothy Vernon, famed in history and romance, will step out of the long-ago past at the Majestic next Monday evening, when Bertha Galland one of the most beautiful and gifted of our young actresses, appears in Paul Kester's delightful dramatization of Charles Major's celebrated novel, "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall" for a two week's engagement. Manager Fred J. Zimmerman, Jr., has provided his star with one of the best and most successful plays of the day; with scenic surroundings that are equalled by but few of the noted productions of this age of the wonderful achievements of the scenic artist, stage mechanic and costumer's art; and with a company of exceptional merit.

Keith's Theatre—The principal feature of the vaudeville show at Keith's the week of Nov. 28, will be a detachment of the Royal Japanese Guard, a troop of the Mikado's soldiery who have come to his country for the purpose of giving fancy drill exhibitions in order to raise a fund to help the nation during its present trouble. They are said to be almost as expert as the Zouaves who recently appeared at this theatre. The engagement is positively limited to a single week. The surrounding variety includes Frank Gardner and Lottie Vincent, in their comedy specialty "An Idyll of the Links"; Misses Mille and Morris, two clever blackface singing comedienne; Delmore and Lee, in a novel aerial specialty; Snyder and Buckley, the noted musical comedians, and James J. Morton, "the fellow of infinite jests," who is probably the most popular monologue comedian in the varieties. The program will contain 15 acts, every one of which will be well worth witnessing.

ALBEMARLE VAUDEVILLE.

The Albemarle Golf Club gave a most interesting vaudeville show last Friday and Saturday evenings in Temple Hall, Newtonville. Both performances were crowded, and everyone witnessed a very good show.

Individual hits were made by Mr. A. L. Wakefield in his monologue which included a topical song "My Gasoline Automobile." "Chick" Fox of Cadet fame gave some darkey sketches which caught the crowd. The program included a piano solo by Mrs. E. L. Simmons, singing by the Cecilia Male Quartet: a song sheet with Miss Carolyn White as soloist with a bevy of young ladies to assist, a xylophone solo by Frank Russell, a golf chorus by Mrs. Paul Knight and some young ladies, a monologue by Mr. Hubert Pierce, soprano solos by Miss Josephine Knight and Miss Carolyn White, a sketch, "The Doggy Man" by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Knight, and concluded with an act skit, "Three Down" by Messrs E. L. Avery, H. R. Hickox and W. C. Brown.

AMERICAN NAMES.

Robert Louis Stevenson Was Impressed by Their Beauty.

Robert Louis Stevenson spoke in his own attractive way of the nomenclature of the states, towns and rivers of our land thus: "And when I asked the name of a river from the brakeman and heard it was called the Susquehanna the beauty of the name seemed to be part and parcel of the beauty of the land. As when Adam with divine fitness named the creatures, so the word Susquehanna was at once accepted by the fancy. That was the name, as no other could be, for that shinning river and desirable valley.

"None can care for literature in itself who does not take a special pleasure in the sound of names, and there is no part of the world where nomenclature is so rich, poetic, humorous and picturesque as the United States of America. All times, races and languages have brought their contribution. Pekin is in the same state with Euclid, with Bellefontaine and Sandusky; Chelsea with its London association of red brick, Sloan square, and the King's Road is own suburb to stately and primeval Memphis.

"The names of the states and territories themselves form a chorus of sweet and most romantic vocables—Delaware, Ohio, Indiana, Florida, Iowa, Wyoming, Minnesota and the Carolinas; there are few poems with a nobler music for the ear; a songful, tuneful land, and if the new Homer shall arise from the western continent his verse will be enriched, his pages ring spontaneously, with the names of states and cities that would strike the fancy in a business circular."—Savannah News.

A GRAND OLD SAVAGE.

Poulney Bigelow, writing before the Boer war, gave a very interesting impression of ex-President Kruger. "The president of the South African Republic," he wrote, "is indeed a grand old savage from one point of view and a noble statesman from another. He is theoretically the first citizen of the most democratic community, yet in practice he surrounds himself with a tawdry splendor that would shock many a crowned head of Europe. When I first had the honor of meeting this anachronistic phenomenon he was drinking coffee and throwing out a cloud of strong tobacco smoke, but a still stronger volume of violent language, emphasized by the thumping of his massive fist upon the table. The room in which he received was crowded with long haired, full bearded and stolid featured fellow burghers, who reminded me partly of Russian priests, partly of Californian miners and partly of certain alleged portraits of the apostles. I feared that I had unwittingly interrupted a cabinet meeting, but later it turned out that this was Mr. Kruger's usual 'at home.' When the president is not at his office he delights in nothing so much as entertaining his countrymen with coffee, tobacco and political proverbs. He harangues his visitors with the voice of a bull in distress, and they like it. He governs by personal contact and spoken parables, and it is his boast that he knows personally every citizen of his republic."

An Old Time Rip Van Winkle.

The learned John Stow, known as the "London Antiquary," records the following: "April 27, 1543, was Tuesday in Easter week, and on that day William Foxley, potmaker of the mint, fell asleep, and he continued sleeping, and he could not be awakened with pinching, cramping or burning whatsoever until the first day of term, which was fourteen days and fifteen nights after his sleep began. The cause of this extraordinary sleep could not be known, although the same were diligently searched for after by the king's physician and many other learned men. He lived for forty years after he recovered."

Not to Be Wasted.

Mr. Bascomb was as firm about politics as about everything else. He made a boast that nobody could change his views when once they were formed, and it was true.

"But, father, suppose they don't even suggest having Liph Godding for representative?" pleaded Mr. Bascomb's son after a painful half hour of argument. "I don't believe anybody but you has thought of him."

"If they don't have Liph Godding for representative," said Mr. Bascomb calmly, "I shall winter my vote, that's all."—Youth's Companion.

Domestic Economy.

Mr. Younglube—"Don't you think, my dear, that you are cooking twice as much as we shall need? Mrs. Younglube (artlessly)—I am doing it on purpose, darling. Tomorrow I want to try some of those "Hints for Housekeepers—How to Make Dainty Dishes From What Was Left Over From Yesterday."

Then Chaos.

"Why, Mary," said her mistress, "I told you to make up my room an hour ago, and here it is in terrible disorder."

"Yes, mum, and I did," said Mary, "but the master came in to put on a clean collar, mum, and he lost the stud."

The Impossible.

"They say that laughter is good for indigestion."

"Maybe, but how in thunder is a fellow going to laugh when he has indigestion?"—Detroit Free Press.
